

CHARGES BROTHERS VICTIM OF PLOT

POLITICS WON'T PERMIT BOOST IN U. S. TAXES

Hoover Followers Feel Increase on Eve of Campaign Would Be Fatal

LEAVE ACTION TO FUTURE

Accurate Estimate of Receipts Is Not Possible for More Than Year

Washington — (CPA) — President Hoover's prediction that higher taxes would not be necessary if congress kept within the next budget is in line with the political advice he has been getting from the leaders of his party, all of whom feel it would be fatal to have an increase in taxes on the eve of a presidential campaign.

Even if the administration wanted to increase taxes, it wouldn't be possible to get an accurate gauge of receipts because of the current business depression. The income tax returns which have been coming since March 15 reflects the earnings of individuals and corporations for the calendar year 1930, the last part of which was admittedly much better than the last quarter.

If 1931 is a slightly better year than 1930 it would be reflected in the revenues coming in during March, 1932. Strictly speaking, a true picture of the effects of the depression on tax receipts will not be possible till about April of next year. And that is just a few months before the national campaign.

Wait Till After Race
Assuming that congress tried to frame a tax bill in the spring of 1932, it couldn't possibly take effect till the payments in March, 1933, anyway; so the treasury department and the political leaders are in accord when they say that tax legislation will not be taken up till the session of December, 1932, which will be after the presidential campaign is out of the way.

Congress has heretofore been able to get a tax bill through the many legislative committees and conference committees between December and March, so the likelihood is that it will be able to do the same in the December, 1932, session. It also means that if business conditions during 1932 show material improvement, congress will be able to take into account the possibility of a higher productivity of revenue on the present rates and thus make the changes less drastic than might be the case if the present deficits were to be taken as a basis for tax revision.

There is always the possibility, too, that if there is a change of administration voted by the people in November, 1932, and taking office in March, 1933, the Republicans would prefer to pass on the responsibility for handling the tax problem to their rivals, who might then if conditions required it, place back on the country as its first major act an increase in taxation. But apart from the politics of it, the treasury could hardly tell much about the effect of the depression on tax receipts for a year or more and that's the principal reason for Mr. Hoover's prediction that the tax structure will be untouched for a while anyway.

EXTORTION LETTERS RECEIVED BY FARMER

Berlin, Wis. — (CP) — Two extortion letters addressed to Gus W. Kechn, wealthy farmer living near Spring Lake, were under investigation of Wisconsin auto authorities today. The messages demanded $15,000 and $10,000 and threatened Kechn with death on failure to comply. He was ordered to place the money in a wooden box in a park near his home.

Referendum On Funds To Buy Utilities

GEORGE WHARTON PEPPER

Prepare For Power Body Recall Test

Justice Department to Support Appointment of Chairman Smith

Washington — (CP) — Justice department officials today served notice they would support "as vigorously as they know how" the appointment of Chairman George Otis Smith of the power commission, whose confirmation the senate attempted to recall.

The announcement followed closely that by Smith that former Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, would represent him in the legal contest.

The senate appointed John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential candidate, to represent it in the test of its right to recall confirmation. President Hoover declined to return Smith's name to the senate.

Attorney General Mitchell said the impression had gained credence that because Smith would employ a counsel of his own the justice department had placed entirely upon his shoulders the burden of defending the validity of his appointment.

The attorney general said this was "not the case," but that federal attorney would "give to the case the thorough attention which its importance deserves."

Earlier word had come from the justice department that its attorneys would appear in the case as "friends of the court." Mitchell said this plan would be followed in supporting Smith due to a technical question as to the statutory authority of the attorney general to appear as attorney for a federal official in such litigation.

"The only way the desire of the senate to have the questions passed on judicially could be satisfied," Mitchell said, "was by an official of the department of justice allowing the use of his name as realtor for the institution of the proceedings, and the propriety of appearing as official of the department appears as attorney of record for the defendant is open to question."

Mexico City — (CP) — Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda, foreign representative of the Nicaraguan insurgent, Augustino Sandino, today sent a message to Sandino urging immediate cessation of attacks against American marines in view of the earthquake disaster.

Dr. Zepeda, who has his headquarters here, said that the step would allow the marines and guardia nacional to apply all their efforts to earthquake relief. Dr. Zepeda has great influence with Sandino who frequently depends upon his counsel.

FOKKER TRIES TO DETERMINE CRASH CAUSE

Believes Human Element, Rather Than Structural Failure, to Blame

Cottonwood Falls, Kas. — (CP) — A coroner's jury having failed to determine the cause of an airplane crash which sent Knute Rockne and seven others to their deaths, interest turned today toward an inspection by Anthony Fokker, designer of the craft.

Flying here from Los Angeles, Fokker expressed the belief "the flight should not have been undertaken in existing weather conditions" and that adverse flying conditions and the human element rather than a structural failure was responsible.

He said, however, he would withhold a definite statement until he had viewed the wreckage of the Transcontinental and Western Air express liner and talked with witnesses.

The short verdict "the deceased came to their deaths in an airplane crash, cause undetermined," closed the state's investigation after cowboys, who were the first to reach the scene, and aviation experts had testified.

Guards at Wreck
Guards patrolled the forlorn scene of the mishap, near Bazaar, Kas., while authorities sought to substantiate reports H. J. Christen, Chicago, one of the victims, had cashed a $55,000 check shortly before he boarded the ill-fated liner. No such sum was found by authorities at the scene.

Fokker came here at the request of interested, aircraft officials. The Fokker corporation is a subsidiary of the General Aviation, which owns a large interest in the T. and W. A. E.

The designer said he had his own opinion of the crash.

"Ice, forming on the wings, may have played a part," he said.

"In my opinion the ship was placed in a violent maneuver and the wing was torn off as a result. I would say the human element entered very strongly into the cause of the crash."

Three hundred ships of the type, he added, have been built in conformity with his designs, and there has been no accident of major importance involving them where the cause appeared to be wing failure.

Jack Frye, vice president in charge of the airline's operations, said he favored a theory "ice forming on instruments caused the pilot to become confused."

POLICE, FIREMEN OUT IN COAL MINE STRUGGLE

Scranston, Pa. — (CP) — Police and firemen were called out today when a clash occurred between mine workers and officers at the Dodge colliery in West Scranston.

Trouble occurred at the mine where a crowd of 600 men had gathered when pickets of striking miners from Wilkesbarre came here to request local workers to join their strike, which is not sanctioned by the miner's union. When tear gas failed to disperse the crowd firemen brought hose and played water on them.

No arrests were made. A number of persons suffered cuts and bruises.

Tenth Annual Cooking School Closes Tonight; Record Crowd Expected

THURSDAY NIGHT PROGRAM Sea Foods and Salads 1. Deviled crab meat. 2. Moulded mayonnaise and shrimp. 3. Dressing for Shrimp. 4. Spanish salad. 5. Gingerale salad. 6. Sweet bread and pineapple salad.

Another record crowd gathered in the high school auditorium Wednesday afternoon for the Appleton Post-Crescent free cooking school. Nearly 1,100 women seated were in the auditorium 15 minutes before the class opened. Every seat was taken and the 200 chairs placed along the sides of the room were occupied.

Plans are under way to take care of the additional women who will attend the last session tonight. Chairs will be placed in the high school corridor and an amplification system will enable these women to hear the lecture, which will begin at 7:30.

Applause greeted Mrs. Opal Neldhamer as she came into her stage-kitchen for her second lecture. Women had their hats off, their notebooks open and their sharpened pencils ready to begin with new and interesting recipes to break the monotony of their meals at home.

Throughout the lecture, several women asked questions about the procedure Mrs. Neldhamer was explaining. The class had all the aspects of an informal gathering with Mrs. Neldhamer explaining every step, mentioning every teaspoonful of seasoning as she prepared two whole meals with the assistance of Miss Hildegard Kesting.

Housewives were so eager to see the pork roast prepared by the cooking heads, that Mrs. Neldhamer had a boy scout carry the finished dish, attractively decorated with a row of colored paper sticks, down the aisles of the crowd.

Interest Is Evident
The interest of the women in the cooking school was seen in their faces as they listened attentively to the instructions of the instructor. Women nodded their heads enthusiastically when Mrs. Neldhamer asked if they mixed ingredients in the same manner which she was doing. Nearly everyone raised their hands when she asked if they intended coming to the other sessions.

The attitude of housewives of Outagamie county toward the cooking school is shown in the statements made by some of them attending school.

Mrs. H. Baer, 620 N. Mason-st.—I do like the Appleton Post-Crescent cooking school very much and find it a very pleasant and helpful way to spend an afternoon.

Mrs. L. Albrecht, 1109 N. Superior-st.—It's one of the best ideas sponsored by the Post-Crescent and business houses to give ideas in all lines of homemaking.

Mrs. G. E. Peterson, 126 E. Atlantic-st.—Personally, I enjoy the cooking school.

REYNOLDS READY TO ASK FOR WARRANTS

Superior Judge Schein to Hear Appeal in Alleged Bribery Case

Madison — (CP) — The attorney general tomorrow will ask Superior Judge S. E. Schein, Madison, to issue warrants in connection with the alleged attempt to bribe Sen. Peter J. Smith, Eau Claire, for his vote on utility legislation, it was announced today.

Fred M. Wylie, deputy attorney general, said he would confer tonight with his superior, John W. Reynolds, and the complaints would be drawn for presentation to Judge Schein.

The complaints will ask issuance of criminal warrants, charging violation of the lobby law and attempted bribery, against the Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation; the Northern States Power Company; William J. Haggenah, counsel and vice president of the Byllesby company; Paul J. Belue, Chicago, Pa., and Ethan B. Miller, New Richmond. The latter two are former assemblymen.

SENATE'S VOTE PUTS MEASURE BEFORE PEOPLE

Single Bill on Administration Power Program Still in Legislature

Madison — (CP) — The Wisconsin electorate will decide at a referendum in 1932 whether the constitution shall be changed to permit municipalities to contract debts in excess of 5 per cent of their assessed valuation for the purpose of acquiring public utilities.

The senate today concurred in the Carow resolution by a vote of 23 to 2 thus putting the question directly to the voters. The same resolution was passed by the 1929 legislature.

With the adoption of the Carow resolution, only one of the four measures constituting the administration's power program remains to be acted upon. Both the assembly and senate have already passed a bill permitting the creation of power districts and a resolution for a constitutional amendment to permit the state to enter the public utility business. The municipal competition bill is still before the legislature.

The senate concurred in an assembly resolution memorializing congress to enact legislation for unemployment insurance and indefinitely postponed a senate bill designed to provide for the elimination of more than 9,000 railroad grade crossings during the next decade. The upper house also killed by indefinite postponement the assembly bill which prohibited the garnishment of legislators' salaries.

Pass Severson Bill
A bill introduced by Sen. Herman Severson, Iowa, early in the session regarding party defendants was finally passed today. It provides that anyone having an interest in a case which is adverse to the plaintiff may be made a party defendant. Insurance companies, by the provisions of the bill, may be made party defendants. Under the existing law they may require a judgment against the insured before action is taken against them.

Other actions taken by the senate included: Upheld the governor's veto of a Sturgeon fishing bill. Passed the Morris bill permitting jury trial to determine the value of lands taken for park purposes under the right of eminent domain.

Passed a bill giving the highway commission the right to create highways of excess width. Passed a bill giving the highway commission the right to beautify highways.

Passed the Rush bill authorizing the Wisconsin Valley Improvement company to construct, acquire and maintain a system of water reservoirs located in the tributaries of the Wisconsin river.

Passed a bill prohibiting the use of motor vehicles on state highways or streets after July 1, 1932, unless equipped with pneumatic tires.

Passed a bill permitting manufacturers to attach coupons or certificates in packages or containers.

Passed the Nelson bill prohibiting the piling of slash within 50 feet of a highway or railroad.

GANDHI ATTEMPTING TO END COMMUNAL DISPUTE

Karachi, India — (CP) — Mahatma Gandhi left here tonight, accompanied by the members of his cabinet, for Delhi, where he will attempt to solve the Moslem-Hindu communal problems.

Madeline Slade, Gandhi's English disciple and attendant, was unable to join the Mahatma because she was removed to a hospital suffering from chickenpox. Physicians were taking measures against the spread of the disease and to prevent Gandhi's taking it, suffering, as he is, from a bad cold.

Four strong men were assigned to Gandhi's third class compartment as bodyguards, to prevent his admirers from forcing their way in or smashing windows as happened on his last train trip.

31 Lost In Ship Crash During Fog

Authorities Hunt Other Bodies After Collision Off Gibraltar

Malaga, Spain — (CP) — Thirty-one emigrants' bodies were recovered today from the wreckage of the French "Glorious" following her collision with the British air-craft carrier "Glorious" in a dense fog 60 miles off Gibraltar yesterday.

Authorities were continuing the search for additional bodies, but because of the confusion it could not be definitely established whether others were missing.

In spite of mist, planes from the aircraft carrier flew overhead and witnessed the accident. The flying deck of the carrier was littered with debris following the crash so that the planes were forced to alight on the mainland. Four of them failed to reach the shore and sank in the sea but their crews were saved.

The dead and injured are all steeped in seawater. Italian, Spanish, French, or Greek, returning to Europe from the Argentine, Spaniards of the first and second classes escaped unhurt.

The Florida, badly damaged in the bow, was brought to Malaga this morning accompanied by a British gunboat and five British destroyers. Both the Florida and the "Glorious" are now at Malaga. The "Glorious" bringing with her all first and second class passengers and injured stevedores passengers of the Florida.

Hitler Attempting to Patch Up Party Rifts
Berlin — (CP) — Adolf Hitler, Germany's National Socialist party leader, who yesterday saw his party's dominance in its stronghold of Thuringia crumble with the unseating of the National Socialist minister of the interior, Wilhelm Frick, faced further trouble today.

Today he had the further task of trying to repair the wide open split in the party's ranks precipitated by his removal of Captain Stennes as Generalissimo of the National Socialist "storm troops" in north Germany.

Stennes broke with Hitler over the latter's policy of keeping the National Socialist movement within the law. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's right hand man at Berlin, sided at first with Stennes, but later declared allegiance to Hitler and joined the leader at Weimar.

WANT MEN "FAIR TO FARMERS" IN PROBE
Manitowish — (CP) — Henry Rodewald, Newton, president of the Tri-county Cheesemakers and Dairy-men's association, planned today to forward to Governor LaFollette a request from the association that men be appointed to the department of agriculture and markets who "will be fair to Wisconsin farmers and dairymen as a whole."

The association members said they were not permitted to have representatives on the committee investigating cheese market conditions.

TWO SEEK FREEDOM ON HABEAS CORPUS WRIT
Milwaukee — (CP) — A hearing will be held tomorrow before Judge F. A. Geiger on an application for a writ of habeas corpus under which Atty. Henry Sullivan and Atty. John F. L. O'Leary seek their freedom from the house of correction. They are serving terms of one year on charges of conspiracy to defraud in connection with a war compensation claim.

LAWYER SAYS HE WAS DRAWN INTO BIG SPIDER WEB

"Waited 10 Months to Pick Accused, Then Closed Around Him," Charge

WITNESS IS ACCUSED Prosecution Begins Final Appeal for Conviction in Lingle Murder

BULLETIN
Criminal Court Building, Chicago — (CP) — The murder case against Leo Brothers, charged with the assassination of the Tribune police reporter, Alfred "Jake" Lingle, was placed in the hands of a criminal court jury at 2:24 p. m. today. The 12 men were told in the prosecution's last argument, that "no penalty is too severe" for "this cold blooded, cowardly murder."

The last voice to speak for Leo Brothers, Attorney Louis Piquett, pleading with a jury to set Brothers free on the charge of murdering Alfred Lingle, charged today that the arrest of the young St. Louisan was the result of a "great conspiracy." Piquett described a "big spider web" that he said was formed after the killing of the Chicago Tribune reporter.

"But this spider didn't wait a week or a month. It waited ten months, picked out this young man and then closed around him," thundered the defense lawyer.

Piquett said Lingle, Pat Roche, chief investigator for the states attorneys office, and Clark Applegate, Kentucky turkman, who identified Brothers as the man who tossed a gun near Lingle's body, were "three musketeers, bosom companions."

Applegate was the only man that Roche and the "million dollar prosecution" could find, Piquett said, who would come in and say he saw Brothers in the tunnel.

"He had to say he saw the gun," shouted the attorney, "or they wouldn't have had any case at all. Are they attempting to hide the motives?" asked Piquett. "You have the right to know all the facts. A man is not going out to kill unless there is some reason or unless he is insane. Why don't they talk about motive?"

Pointing to Mrs. Rosa Jessen, the defendant's mother, Piquett asked "do you men want to turn the electric current through her heart?"

After he had been stopped by several state objections, the lawyer said, "I am a gentleman. I don't know any better. If Leo Brothers had money he would have hired competent lawyers. Leo Brothers came to me because he was broke."

"Leo Brothers was a party to picking up men, he was convinced by your attitude, your expression and your answers that you would be fair to him," said Piquett.

Pleads for Acquittal
"You have accepted the responsibility of human life. Decide this case by your conscience. Don't be afraid of what the great crowd will say. You can go home to your loved ones and say 'I've done my duty to my fellow man.'"

Piquett closed by thanking Judge Joseph Sabath for his fairness in conducting the trial. Assistant States Attorney Wayland Brooks began immediately on his last argument.

Brooks said Piquett was the first man he had ever heard in a courtroom say Pat Roche was dishonest. "That is just a part of the phoney defense," said the prosecutor. "I'll answer their questions one by one."

"First, they ask 'who killed Jake Lingle?' I can only say 'the man that dropped that gun.' Applegate said 'Brothers dropped that gun.' 'I expect this court will instruct you that we don't have to prove a motive.'"

"Speaking of motives, I've got 10,000 motives and more as my clients, and if you make a mistake and it's written down, it's there. It will take ten years of church and school to undo it."

Piquett said he would hesitate to say that witnesses on either side perjured themselves. "Remember that many months have elapsed since the murder," he said. "We may call it a case of mistaken identity."

Attacks Defense Charges
Brooks said the defense charge of "dishonesty, frameup, conspiracy" was "the most unfair thing in the world" and he asserted the lawyers had tossed in "poison" in their closing arguments, they knew couldn't have been presented in evidence.

"They continually pull down that curtain of silence and ask 'Why?' said Brooks.

"I ask them right back. They say 'oh, if I could only tell my story.' I can say the same thing again."

Managua Almost Deserted As Marines And Guards Patrol City

30,000 FORCED TO CAMP NEAR RUINED HOMES

Doctors Treating Injured in Marine Barracks—600 Known Dead

San Juan-De-Los-Rios, Nicaragua—(AP)—It will require many years to rebuild Managua which was virtually destroyed by Tuesday's earthquake. There is no exact information on the number of dead but it is believed that it may reach 5,000 or more, as many bodies are still under the ruins. (Advices from Managua, this morning estimated the dead at 2,000.) Survivors are leaving the city by every available means, some walking and others making their way to railroads. The city looks nearly deserted.

Trucks loaded after truckload of dead were taken from the market place. A guard officer said that he estimated the death list in the market place alone as over 1,000, as the quake occurred in the middle of the busy hour.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Asso. Press) Managua, Nicaragua—(AP)—Razed by earthquake and fire, Managua today is an almost deserted city of smoldering crumpled ruins. Its debris littered streets strewn largely by grim, silent marines and Nicaraguan national guards.

On the hills about the city stand tents, made in some cases from bed clothes and other hastily erected temporary shelters in which more than 30,000 of the stricken city's population are camped, fearful of return to Managua's ruins and uncertain of the future.

On one hill, overlooking the city, a giant fissure opened by the quakes of Tuesday, is being used as an improvised crematorium to which most of the bodies recovered are being taken as soon as they are extricated from the fallen masonry of the ruined city.

About 600 dead have been actually accounted for and it seemed probable today that the total would reach the first estimate of 1,000. There probably will be more dead than injured, marine corps officers believed, commenting that most of those caught indoors at all by the quake were killed outright.

More than 300 serious injuries have been treated at the marine barracks at Campo de Marte and more than 70 persons are confined there with injuries which in many cases will prove fatal. Some, too old to undergo necessary operations, amputations and the like, are almost certain to die of their injuries. The patients are of all races and both sexes. Some have broken legs and arms, some fractured skulls and others internal injuries. The marine doctors are greatly handicapped by lack of operating rooms and are doing their work in tents.

Medical operations are in charge of Lieutenant Commander W. B. Hatfield, who during the night organized a corps of doctors and surgeons for vaccinations against typhoid. A blanket vaccination order has been issued covering all residents of the city who cannot show proper previous inoculation.

Seven physicians have been assigned to the work and it is believed that 10,000 persons, willing or not, will be vaccinated. There are sufficient supplies on hand for the first hours of the work and others are expected by airplane from Panama.

A water supply today still was the city's most serious immediate problem, which may be solved by bringing in pumping machinery from Granada. There probably will be enough food for the emergency period, with additional supplies arriving by plane and the U. S. S. Rochester which is coming to Corinto from Balboa.

Supplies reaching Corinto can be brought by railroad to the main line at Managua where the quake broke the rail lines. Hundreds of Managuans have walked the eight miles to reach the railroad in order to secure transportation to liveable quarters until Managua can be cleaned up and rebuilt.

Daren's Reclaim Gold Practically nowhere in the city was there a building left standing which was fit for habitation. Two of the city's three banks are total ruins; in one of these, the Anglo South American bank, a half million dollars in gold reposed but the walls were left by the quake in such dangerous condition that no one has ventured inside.

It was thought for a while that the bank would have to be dynamited to break the path of the blaze which ate out the interior of the national palace, across the street, after its walls had been knocked down by the tremors, but a change in direction of the wind altered the situation.

Managua is still without communications save that afforded by the tropical radio from its power plant three miles outside the city. The operators there have worked unceasingly without sleep for more than 36 hours, handling many thousands of words of press matter.

An employee of the Pan-American Airways who was in a downtown Managua office at the time of the tremors described them as quick shocks and not undulatory in character. Far from coming in waves, they impressed him like the rattle of a machine gun. Houses fell in heaps about him while the shocks were still taking place.

There have been no additions to the toll of four American dead and about a score injured in varying degrees.

Find Eleven Rural School Wells Have Unsafe Water

Eleven of 41 wells supplying drinking water to Outagamie county schools have been found to be impure and unsafe for drinking, according to reports received by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, and A. G. Mealing, county superintendent of schools, from the state laboratory at Oshkosh.

Last week Miss Klein and Mr. Mealing secured samples of water from about 60 school wells. The water was sent to Oshkosh for official tests and the first reports were received this week on 41 of the wells. These reports showed that at 11 schools children are drinking contaminated water. Miss Klein and Mr. Mealing are advising school board members of those schools that drinking water there should be boiled at least 15 minutes before it is used.

Next week Miss Klein and Mr. Mealing plan to secure samples of water from the 30 other schools of

GASOLINE PRICES INCREASE WITH TAX

Station Proprietors Have Busy Day Before Bill Is Adopted

Proprietors of gasoline stations were busy Tuesday when Governor LaFollette signed the highway bill carrying a four-cent gas tax to go into effect Wednesday. The stations not only experienced a heavy influx of trade from motorists who wanted tanks filled to the brim, but they had their signs and schedules to change for Wednesday.

Low test gasoline is now selling at 16.5 cents a gallon, while high test gas is retailing at 19.6 cents a gallon. Before the bill went into effect, low test sold at 14.6 cents a gallon and high at 17.6 cents a gallon.

Sheriff Lappen And Aides Arrest Four In Jail Break

Four persons, under arrest at Wausau yesterday on charges of aiding in the escape of Roy Johnston, alleged co-leader with Gale Bandy of a Wisconsin burglary gang, from the Marathon-co jail Monday night, were apprehended through the work of Sheriff John Lappen, Undersheriff Edward Lutz, and Officer Peter Van Oudenhoven.

Those held at Wausau are: Mrs. Johnston, Roy's wife; Mrs. Johnston's mother, Mrs. Emory Bodoh, and her son, Everett, both of Clintonville; and Henry Schiessel, who worked for the Bodohs. They were arrested Tuesday at the Bodoh home at Clintonville and turned over to Marathon-co authorities by Officers Lutz and Van Oudenhoven, who were working under orders from Sheriff Lappen.

Marathon-co officials said Mrs. Johnston confessed buying a plumber's wrench and cutting tool which Schiessel dropped by a string through Johnston's window. After Johnston saved his way to freedom, she said, she sat in an automobile with her mother and others adding the plot and watched Johnston drive away with a friend of Bandy.

(Mrs. Johnston and Schiessel pleaded not guilty to charges of conveying tools to aid the jail break when they were arraigned in court at Wausau yesterday and they are being held under $5,000 bonds each.

Mrs. Bodoh and her son pleaded not guilty as accessories before the fact and were scheduled for a hearing Friday.

The arrest of the quartet at Clintonville Tuesday was made after Mr. Lyons of Shiocton telephoned Sheriff Lappen and told him of taking Mrs. Johnston to Wausau the day of the jail break and bringing her back to Clintonville the same night. He said Mrs. Johnston told him, on the return journey, that there would be a jail break and the police would probably be looking for her. Lyons who was an acquaintance of the Bodohs, told the authorities that he agreed to take Mrs. Johnston to Wausau because she said she wanted to visit her husband, Lyons was questioned at Clintonville Tuesday. Officers Lutz and Van Oudenhoven went to the Bodoh home and arrested the four people and took them to the jail at Clintonville, where they were held until turned over to Marathon-co officials.

Mrs. Johnston, with her small son, Cluuby, were held in the county jail here several days on suspicion that Mrs. Johnston had been connected with the gang which is believed to have robbed the Fashion Shop on W. College-ave several months ago. Charges against Mrs. Johnston were dropped, however, and she was taken to the home of her parents near Clintonville.

ORDINANCE ON JUNK ADOPTED BY ALDERMEN

City Attorney Instructed to Draw Up Amendment to Measure

Almost ruined by parliamentary procedure, the proposed junk ordinance, which has been hanging before the council for so long it is almost a nightmare, was finally elevated to the dignified position of a city ordinance by a 10 to 2 vote at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening. No fair bridge left waiting at the altar would have caused half the consternation brought on by the discovery that the junk ordinance, published and republished, paraded up and down at countless public hearings and council meetings, still had a flaw.

The weak spot detected, the city fathers, after much debate over parliamentary procedure, finally adopted the ordinance with a trailer authorizing the city attorney to immediately draw up an amendment to rectify an unsatisfactory clause. The ordinance was accepted in its present form to save time and the cost of republishing the ordinance had to be withdrawn, reconsidered and adopted before the change could be assured without an actual amendment to an ordinance that is not yet in force.

Alderman Charles Thompson obstructed the passage of the ordinance by pointing out that the Greenspoon property on Wisconsin-ave, which inspired the new ordinance, was put outside the control of the ordinance by the council at its last meeting when it placed Wisconsin-ave in the local business district. The ordinance, he explained, forces only those junk dealers in the residential district to house their junk at the end of six months. Greenspoon, now in the local business district, can continue to scatter junk about his yard.

Suggests Change
Arguing that the enforcement of the zoning ordinance will not eliminate the Greenspoon difficulty, Mr. Thompson suggested that section 604 be changed to control dealers in all districts except the heavy manufacturing district.

Alderman Vogt, chairman of the ordinance committee, after criticizing the council for permitting an ordinance to be published before all objectionable features have been discussed, said that the council does not have to grant a license to a junk dealer in the local business district if he does not comply with the regulations. He explained that the Wisconsin-ave ordinance was accepted after the present junk ordinance had been drawn up.

Alderman Steinhauer felt that the assurance that Greenspoon is discontinuing his business made any attempt to control his property unnecessary, but Alderman Packard felt the council should protect the city against further imposition from this source rather than take a chance on the abandonment of the business. Aldermen Thompson and Richard voted against the passage of the ordinance.

The proposed labor ordinance was returned to the ordinance committee, with the suggestion that a typed copy of the ordinance be presented to each alderman before it is published.

The question of the salary of bridge tenders, now set at $70 a month, was returned to the street and bridge committee for further consideration. Alderman Wassberg expressed the opinion that the men should be paid Class A wages, 40 cents an hour, inasmuch as their season is only 8-months long. A request to operate a popcorn wagon on College-ave was also returned to the committee.

Bus Permits Granted
Temporary permits were granted to two bus companies, the Northland Greyhound line and the Interstate Transit company, to operate busses through Appleton on their route.

Peterson's Ointment Healed Sore 18 Years Old

It seems rather a sweeping statement but Peterson's can back up the just claims of his powerfully healing and soothing Ointment with grateful letters from people who have been benefited.

Even one application takes out the soreness, stings to heal. The charge causes it instantly relieves piles, bruises, insect bites, chafed and itching skin—it banishes pimples, blackheads and eczema in a few days.

One 35 cent box proves it — all drug-stores.
Robert Phillips of New Salem, Ill., writes: "For 18 yrs. I had an old fever sore on my ankle. I spent hundreds of dollars on it and found no relief. I saw your ad and tried Peterson's Ointment — it gave me ease and enabled me to sleep for first time in 7 weeks. I kept using it and now my leg is sound and well, thanks to you."

INSTALL SORTERGRAPH AT APPLETON LIBRARY

A new sortergraph, which facilitates the filing of library cards, has been installed at Appleton Library. The new device, which cost $170 enables a librarian to accomplish work that in 10 minutes usually takes three hours.

The machine, which resembles a child's toy trains and tracks, was of especial value Monday, when the general circulation was one of the largest in history. Over a thousand books were circulated, 729 from the adult department and 302 from the children's room.

Saturday is usually the heavy day for property to be transposed into a playground for youngsters was granted and School District No. 10, town of Grand Chute was granted permission to connect its sewer with the city system, with a service charge of $100 a year.

The council referred the cleaning of the exterior of city hall to the public grounds and building committee, an offer of a dumping ground to the street and bridge committee, and the sale of the Horn property on Wisconsin-ave to the board of public works.

The attorney was instructed to amend the present ordinance so it will be possible to charge from $20 to $100 for licenses for outside conductors of bankrupt sales.

Appointments to the Citizens Unemployment committee were confirmed.

Council Fails To Find Overcharges In Bills Against City

ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE TO END DEBATE

No Evidence Unearthed to Support Allegations, Aldermen Advised

BY VIOLET CHRISTENSEN
The unidentified victim of four smoking battles, commonly termed the Vanderheyden charges, was laid to rest at the council meeting Wednesday night. What was said, who said it and why, were still debated questions after the council attended to the final rite of approving the 4 to 2 report of the finance committee, which stated that there was no evidence of overcharge in any of the vouchers presented by Alderman Vanderheyden.

Mr. Vanderheyden insisted his statements concerning city purchases had been misconstrued, and Aldermen Steinhauser, Fahrens and Post maintained that no matter what the fifth ward alderman had intended to say, the impression gathered by the public was that local merchants had been overcharging the city. The object of the report of the finance committee was to give the merchants a clean bill of health, it was pointed out.

The argument last night mumbled along from the high price of soup meat to charges of knife-in-the-back politics, and from underhanded committee proceedings to business ethics and procedures. However, outside of an occasional sharp "I object, your honor," the speeches kept an even tone and the aldermen retained their senses of humor. Obviously, everyone was tired of the plenary battle long before it ended.

Objections Reported
Mr. Vanderheyden said that he intended to convey the impression that the city is buying large quantities of merchandise at retail prices, and that because the city is a large buyer it should get lower prices. He objected to the finance report on the grounds that his report, specifying vouchers where no "light" had been made, had been obtained under more competitive conditions, had not been answered. He declared the method of investigation, saying that much of it had been done at a meeting at which he was unable to be present, and that the investigation had not included a comparison of prices. This, he felt, was evidence that there were politics behind the entire matter, that it was an attempt to "get" him in the coming election, because he "didn't deliver the fifth ward." At this point he was interrupted by an excited objection from Mr. Steinhauser, who declared that the fifth ward alderman should not be allowed to make a political speech on the council floor.

After explaining that his list of vouchers included some where there was disagreement in price, some where the bills were not in accord with legislative procedure, and some that had never been approved by him, Mr. Vanderheyden offered Exhibit A, "soup meat—$1.57," purchased for a city poor charge. He explained that he had a family of eight persons, and never had he bought $1.57 worth of soup meat, but said that such bills were not to be blamed upon the merchant, but upon the purchaser. After an article is purchased, it must be paid for he said, but it can still be criticized.

As proof of his right to question some of the bills, he said that rebates are now being made on some of the bills in question.

No Politics, Claim
Alderman Packard granted that Mr. Vanderheyden is conscientious in his belief that he was making no charge against the merchants, but stated that this did not alter the fact that the council and the public think he made some rather strong statements. He agreed that the fifth ward representative may have intended to say that the purchasing method was wrong, but insisted that the merchants were charging excessive prices. That Mr. Vanderheyden did make the statement he is charged with was proved, he said, by the fact that Alderman Vogt immediately questioned his statement, and that Mr. Packard himself had asked for proof.

He refuted the charge that there are any politics behind the investigation saying that he had no axe to grind, and that it is of no interest to him who is elected alderman from the fifth ward. He said that there was no attempt to "split one over on Vanderheyden" at the finance committee meeting, he explained that he had attempted to call special meetings to discuss the question three times last week, and that when Mr. Vanderheyden was unable to be present at the Friday meeting, the vouchers were held over until a special meeting on Monday, so Mr. Vanderheyden might have the chance to defend his stand. The investigation was made by himself at the request of the committee, and that when he had interviewed the merchants he was working on the assumption that Mr. Vanderheyden had done the same thing before he made his charges.

Approved Most Bills
He pointed out that Mr. Vanderheyden had approved all bills in question except four, and that three of those came out of meetings at which Mr. Vanderheyden had not been present. The other was an article on the poor commissioner, who purchased the soup meat. Mr. Packard declared that the finance committee has to depend upon the officers to whom the city has delegated its work, and that if Mr. Lyons approved the bill he was confident that it had been delivered to some poor charge. The discrepancy in the coal bills objected to by Mr. Vanderheyden, were legitimate extra charges on the delivery of half tons of coal, he said. Upon questioning

DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF SALVATION ARMY

Brigadier Reports on Final Hearings on Proposed Charter

Dr. A. M. Nicol of the Legacy department of the Salvation Army in Milwaukee, and Brigadier Bertram C. Rodda, chairman of the officers' council, Milwaukee, were the principal speakers at a public meeting of the Salvation Army at Moose hall Wednesday evening. The topic of Dr. Nicol's sermon was "Lenten Glimpses of Practical Humanity in All Parts of the World."

Brigadier Rodda stated that the final hearings on the proposed charter for the Salvation Army in Wisconsin took place before the judicial committee early this week, and that the charter probably would be signed by the governor within the next few days. He pointed out that the charter would facilitate the erection of buildings in various parts of Wisconsin.

The officers' conference continued throughout Thursday, sectional meetings being held at the Y. M. C. A. building. Representatives were present from Green Bay, Appleton, Fond du Lac, and other neighboring cities.

HOLD 2 LENTEN SHOP MEETINGS TOMORROW

DRUNK IS FINED

John Emra, Menasha, was given a choice of paying a fine of $10 and costs or spending 10 days in the county jail, when he pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning of drunkenness. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by city police at the corner of Franklin and Lawrence. Up to noon he had not paid the fine.

from Mr. Vanderheyden he said that the only rebates were on these coal bills. In fairness to merchants, the chairman of the finance committee said no names would be mentioned in the council chambers.

Mr. Vanderheyden refused to repeat his original statement when asked to do so by Alderman Vogt, who maintained that in addition to declaring there had been overcharges, Mr. Vanderheyden had said that the merchants "see the city coming." The fifth ward alderman heatedly protested against Mr. Vogt's statement that he had spoken of duplication of bills. Mr. Vogt objected to Mr. Vanderheyden's collective method of discovering overcharges, declaring that the time to object to a bill was when it was presented to the finance committee.

Asking Alderman Vanderheyden why he does not practice what he preaches, Mr. Steinhauser revived the old argument about the purchase of a lot on Oklahoma street for $900 that he said should have cost but $600, and why such a high price was paid for cutting down a couple of trees. Mr. Vanderheyden answered that the lot had not been bought by him, that the purchase had been approved by the council. He objected to Mr. Steinhauser's use of the words "held up" in referring to his original statement.

Four members of the finance committee, Aldermen Packard, Thompson, Wassenberg, and Richard, reported prepared for the Monday meeting of the finance committee. Aldermen Vanderheyden and Kihner cast negative votes.

The council adjourned until Wednesday night, when the votes of the general election will be canvassed.

COMPLETE TESTIMONY IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Testimony was completed shortly before noon today in the suit brought by the Northern Boiler and Structural Iron Works of Appleton against the Shady Side Cheese factory of the town of Center for damages of $555. The Appleton company also claims interest of about $150. The case was started in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg yesterday and is expected to reach the jury this afternoon. The Appleton firm asks payment for a boiler which it claims was sold to the cheese factory in 1927. The cheese factory claims the purchase price of the boiler was $555.50 instead of $555, as claimed by the seller, and offers that amount in settlement.

TWO PAY FINES FOR OVERLOADING TRUCKS

Two truck drivers were fined $15 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty of driving trucks on roads in the county with loads in excess of the limits set for those highways. The truck drivers were Tony Adams, 1215 Lawrence, Green Bay, a driver for the Leclerc Transfer company of Green Bay; and Erwin Schweiger, 722 West Milwaukee, a driver for the Hillsdale Transit company of Milwaukee. Adams was arrested on Highway 41 at Kaukauna and charged with driving a truck which had a total load of more than 18,000 pounds. Peter Van Oudenhoven, county motorcycle officer, made this arrest. Schweiger was arrested on County Trunk S. in the town of Freedom on a charge of driving a truck with a load of more than 7,000 pounds. He was arrested by Charles Steidl, county motorcycle officer.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The county board building and grounds committee will meet Monday afternoon at the courthouse. Bills will be allowed and other routine matters will be transacted.

Grocer's Wife Frustrates Attempted Holdup Of Store

An attempted holdup of the Helm Grocery store, 912 W. Wisconsin-ave, was frustrated shortly before 6 o'clock last night when Mrs. Helm boldly faced the would-be robber and frightened him away.

Mrs. J. T. Helm, her husband and two brothers were seated in the residence when a bell, announcing that someone had entered the store, rang. Mrs. Helm went to serve the customer, but when she reached the store counter, she thrust a gun at her and said: "Come on. Don't say anything. Hand out the cash."

Mrs. Helm hesitated and when the robber repeated the command she darted back into the residence and told her husband and brothers that a holdup was being attempted. The robber, however, followed the woman and ordered the three of them to:

"Stick 'em up!"

Refusing to be intimidated Mrs. Helm, standing in front of the robber, grasped his revolver and pushed it toward the ceiling. The robber pulled the gun away and turned and fled from the store. He jumped into a Chevrolet coach with disc wheels and drove south on N. Story-st.

The robber was said to be between 25 and 30 years of age, about five feet seven inches tall, of slim build, and dark. He wore a dirty gray cap, a dark coat, and overalls.

More than 1,000 women packed the auditorium at Appleton high school Tuesday afternoon at the opening session of the Appleton Post-Crescent free cooking school. Capacity attendances also marked the Wednesday and Thursday afternoon sessions. The final session will be held at 7:30 this evening at the high school.

JESUS' COMRADESHIP DESCRIBED BY PASTOR

Jesus' Comradeship with 12 disciples, and his intimacy with the three, Peter, James and John, were described by Dr. C. A. Briggs at the noon day Holy Week service at the Appleton theatre Thursday noon. His subject was The Comrade Christ.

He spoke of the Last Supper, of Jesus' hours in the garden of Gethsemane, and of the hold the ceremony of Holy Communion has on Christians today. Speaking of the source of comradeship with Jesus, Dr. Briggs said that it does not come through birthright, that the world must partake of the divine nature. Of the course of comradeship, he pointed out, that it entails partaking in the suffering of Christ. Participation in the glory of Christ will be the consummation of the comradeship, he said.

The Rev. R. A. Garrison of Memorial Presbyterian church presided at the service, and members of the WBYB broadcasting orchestra provided music.

Dr. Briggs will talk on The Conquering Christ at the Friday noon meeting, the last of the series.

APPREHEND MAN WHO ESCAPED FROM PRISON

Elmer Pagel, formerly of Kaukauna, who escaped from the Amborg quarry camp of the state reformatory last December, has been apprehended and returned to the prison at Green Bay to complete his term, according to Superintendent H. Eklund of the reformatory. Pagel escaped with William A. Allen, another reformatory inmate, by driving away from the quarry in a state truck. The truck was abandoned and the same morning a car was reported stolen at Green Bay. This was later recovered in Indiana. Pagel and Allen are believed to have taken the car in their flight, and Pagel is to be questioned about the car. Pagel was sentenced from Outagamie-co in August, 1930, to a two-year term for non-support.

CITY TREASURY BALANCE $124,000 ON MARCH 31

The balance in the city treasury at the end of March was $124,062, over $100,000 more than the $18,003 balance of March 31, 1930. It was announced at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening. Last year it was necessary to borrow money at the first meeting of the new council in April. This year it is expected no loans will be made until June or July. The year 1931 started with a balance of $56,020, with all bills for 1930 paid.

DIRECTORS MEETING

Reports of committee and division chairmen will be reviewed and plans for the coming month discussed at a dinner meeting of the chamber of commerce board of directors Friday noon at Hotel Northern.

SNOW STORM LAST WEEK ADDED $865 TO CITY EXPENSES

Saturday's deluge of snow cost the city $865.52 up to Wednesday night, records in the street department office show. Several minor items of expense connected with the storm will be added to this total, but the entire cost is not expected to run over $900.

Comparatively, the week end storm did not cost the city a great deal, as the cost of removing snow after some storms has been as high as $2,500.

The total amount expended in snow removal from Jan. 1 to Wednesday night is $2,400, which is far below the amount anticipated for this year's snow removal.

It cost about $92 to shovel snow from private sidewalks, but this is not included in the city costs, as all of it is assessed to property owners.

UNCERTAIN WEATHER PREDICTED FRIDAY

Uncertain weather will prevail in Appleton and vicinity during the next 24 hours, according to the weather man.

Rain or snow will fall in the west portions of Wisconsin tonight and Friday, and Friday afternoon in the eastern portions, he says.

The mercury is due for a drop throughout the middle west. Winds are shifting in the east and southeast, a good indication that wet weather is on the way.

At 6 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 24 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 55 degrees.

PERMIT ABSENCE FOR ANNUAL VET'S MEETING

An order has been issued by Walter F. Brown, postmaster general, giving Wisconsin postmasters and other officials of the postal service with employees under their supervision who are members of the Wisconsin United Spanish War Veterans, authority to grant leave of absence to such employees for as many days as necessary to enable them to attend the annual encampment of the organization at Oshkosh, June 25, 26 and 27. Absences may be charged to the employees' annual leave, or leave may be granted without pay. W. H. Zuehlke, acting postmaster here, is department commander.

LEGION SPONSORS DRIVE FOR STATE CRIME STUDY FUND

Oney Johnston Post Will Raise $140 Through Sale of Stamps

Officers of Oney Johnston post of the American legion are preparing plans for the organization's campaign to raise $140 as the posts share in a $10,000 fund being raised to help finance a citizens committee of 160 Wisconsin leaders planning to make a comprehensive study of crime in this state.

The week of April 12 to 18 will be observed as "Stamp Out Crime" week and during this period the legion will sell stamps, the proceeds of which are to go to Milwaukee to the state department's fund for the study. A committee of legionnaires and three Appleton men closely connected with police powers in the city has been named to carry on the work in Appleton.

The citizens' committee to study crime is under the sponsorship of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work, headed by Francis E. McGovern, Milwaukee, former governor of the state. Appleton members of the committee are Marshall C. Craft, Miss Blanche Murphy, George T. Prim, chief of police and Judge Edgar V. Werner. Judge Werner is chairman of the sub-committee on criminal court procedure.

Four aims of the committee have been outlined. It will promote an exhaustive study of all conditions in the institutions and circumstances surrounding the increase in crime, both as to causes and effect.

After the study the committee will draw up legislation designed to correct practices now in force and bring to a high point of efficiency criminal detection and apprehension agencies, suggesting among other things a state police system.

There also will be a study of need for segregating various types of criminals, the thought being that confinement in prisons should not teach men how to commit other crimes, but should bring about cures for criminals whose trouble can be attributed to definite mental abnormalities.

Stamps already have been placed on sale in Appleton. They are being handled by Peter Goerl at the First National bank.

Mrs. John Knutli, 1519 S. Laws-st—Yes, the cooking school is an occasion that I look forward to, since I get a lot of hints and suggestions which one surely needs at times when most unlooked for.

Mrs. J. Rosenberg, route 5, Appleton—I have attended all the Post-Crescent cooking schools and have derived considerable information and help from them. As a critic, I do not think the school is held often enough. The instructor is especially interesting.

The damage was covered by insurance.

Damage to several of the planes stored in the hangar was nominal, it is said. The roof of the hangar was blown off during the snow storm last week.

THOUSANDS ARE PAYING TRIBUTE

No Wonder Seven Million Bottles of Konjola Were Used in 2 Years.

There is gratitude in every word expressed by Mr. Charles H. Jessup, 1908 E. 69th street, Cleveland, Ohio. He says of Konjola: "I was so ill that I could not breathe when lying down and was forced to sit in a chair. From December to March I could do no work whatever. I took eight bottles of Konjola and today I am as sound as a dollar. I rest well, have regained my lost weight and feel better than I have in years."

Equally grateful is the expression of Mrs. E. Dawson, 2036 West 31st street, Cleveland, Ohio. She has this to say: "I was run down and unable to sleep because of nervousness. I was constipated and suffered misery after meals. Neuritis attacked my arms and shoulders. Headaches and backaches were fearful. Today, after taking Konjola, I am relieved of all these miseries and feel better than I have in a long time."

FORMER BANKER CONFESSES HE TOOK MILLION

Paul Wupper, Missing for Two Years, Also Admits He's Bigamist

Philadelphia—(P)—A fugitive for whom an international search had been made for more than two years, Paul Wupper, alias Frederick Brinkman, has revealed himself to police here as a bigamist and the embezzler of "close to $1,000,000" from the Beemer State bank, Beemer, Neb., of which he was president. "I got tired of being hunted," he told the authorities. "I felt that sooner or later I would be caught and thought this was a good time to make a clean breast of things and ease my conscience." Wupper made his revelations in municipal court while awaiting a hearing of bigamy charges preferred by wife No. 2, who caused his arrest in New York two weeks ago on a fugitive warrant. While waiting in the sheriff's cell room he wrote a brief statement confessing that he was wanted in Nebraska for the wrecking of the Beemer bank and then dictated a message to Sheriff M. L. Endress, of Lincoln, Neb., asking him to come and get him. Wupper, who is 52, was held for extradition to Nebraska in a few days. Rewards aggregating $3,150 had been offered for his arrest. The prisoner told police he had deserted wife No. 2, the former Miss Hedwig Hirsch, whom he married in this city a year ago under the name of Frederick Brinkman, because he had lost his position. He said wife No. 1 and their two children live in Beemer and that he had not heard from them since he left there. "I had been president of the State bank at Beemer for 20 years," the police quoted Wupper as saying. "I got into trouble through back loans, frozen paper and lack of cash reserve. "I left Beemer with a bank examiner and the secretary of the state banking department, for Omaha to try and raise money to straighten things out. I also tried Chicago and New York, but without success. Then I saw an article in the paper that the bank was closed and I was declared a fugitive, so I came to Philadelphia. At that time I had only $35 in my pockets. "Shortly after I came here, I obtained work as a superintendent with an electrical concern in Trenton, N. J. I met Miss Hedwig Hirsch in a German restaurant in Philadelphia. We were married in a magistrate's office Feb. 23, 1930." WIFE GLAD HE CONFESSED Lincoln, Neb. — (P) — A broken-hearted wife and mother—Mrs. Paul Wupper—at her home in Fremont last night said of her husband who was being held in Philadelphia for Nebraska authorities facing charges of embezzling approximately a million dollars from the now defunct Beemer State bank, "I'm glad he confessed." "I thought maybe he was dead," Mrs. Wupper continued. "But it's a relief to know what has become of him. I do not want to see him. I have no grudge against him, and I will file no complaints or charges against him." Meanwhile, State Sheriff Michael Endress was preparing to leave here today for Philadelphia, accompanied by Sheriff C. H. Sass of Cuming-co to return Wupper. Mrs. Wupper said her husband came to this country from Germany when he was a young man. He worked as a store clerk for several years. Later he became an assistant cashier of a Scribner bank and from there he went to Beemer as cashier of the Beemer bank. Soon he assumed control of the institution he is charged with wrecking in 1925. Mrs. Wupper was left practically penniless when her savings were swept away along with those of other depositors. Two of Wupper's business associates are now serving prison terms for their part in the bank failures. FORCE COFFEE DRINKING Lisbon—(P)—To aid in disposing of accumulated coffee stocks, the ministry of marine has ordered coffee served in the navy at each meal, substituting it for tea at breakfast.

PASS JURY TRIAL BILL FOR CONTEMPT CASES Madison — (P) — The assembly Wednesday concurred in a bill providing for jury trials in the contempt cases. The measure will probably be in the hands of the governor for his signature late this week. The assembly's action, following approval of the bill in the senate, constitutes a clear victory for organized labor in Wisconsin. Hitherto, workers who violated injunctions against picketing and committed other strike tactics were subject to the pleasure of the court rather than juries. The jury verdict in such cases must be unanimous, however, according to the terms of the bill, introduced by Sen. Herman Severson, Iowa.

FREEDOM IS NOT FOR ALL

Liberty to some is like a strong wine, the use and effect of which they cannot stand. It was not meant for such. It generally takes one of some education and certainly with a head and balance to handle it.

Germany is now having a lot of difficulty with the extremists from both ends, the Fascists who want a kaiser to adore and consider a blow from the mailed fist a thrill sublime, and the Reds who do not know enough to know what they want or why.

Both of these factions wantonly resort to violence, the use of which in political affairs is proof conclusive that one is unfit for either the blessings or the burdens of freedom. Each loudly proclaims he fights for liberty but in truth he only wants liberty for himself, not for those who differ with him.

And because there are so many of these people who have been unable to handle liberty, President Hindenburg has taken some of it away from all Germans, in particular the freedom of the press.

If the German people lose or have their liberty restricted the fault is attributable to themselves. Mussolini did not rise to power in Italy by the mere force of his own genius but he was lifted up by a socialist administration that impoverished the country and permitted disorder to run riot.

For several thousand years we have had countries of free peoples who have abandoned liberty because they did not know and could not learn how to handle it. It wasn't taken from them. They deserted it.

No one is really entitled to liberty unless he has a fairly comprehensive idea that the other fellow too is entitled to it, and that when power comes to his hands it must be used fairly and honestly, for any other use is destructive of liberty.

The great Burke wrote: "What is liberty without wisdom and without virtue? It is the greatest of all possible evils, for it is then folly, vice and madness, without tuition or restraint."

KNUTE ROCKNE

With the sudden death of Knute Rockne the football world lost its most colorful and one of its most mainly figures.

As athletic director at Notre Dame Rockne built up a system of mass athletics, encouraging every student to participate. If football was a good sport for the varsity player, declared he, it was an equally good sport for the entire undergraduate body. He properly and enthusiastically developed this idea so that every dormitory had practically its own team.

Mr. Rockne was not only an outstanding teacher and strategist of the game but in bringing out of it everything possible in the way of fair tactics, good sportsmanship, and manly behavior, he helped materially to place it on its present high pedestal. Mr. Rockne was a cultured gentleman, well educated, as much at home in the drawing room as on the street. As a leader of men, and any football coach must be such, he had few equals. That his teams were noted for speed is but one thing, but that they became famous for their mental alertness and intelligence was the important and higher qualification.

For Mr. Rockne the final whistle has been blown but the last touchdown has not been made. The heritage he leaves will send many men on to success and must somehow be felt in the haze of the gathering night when the thousands wind their way homewards.

SPRING IS HERE

Though the departure of winter has been officially recorded it seems to break the bonds meant to restrain and now and then return to confound us.

Yet spring has always been about the same. Half a century ago Mark Twain speaking at a banquet declared that in spring he had noted "136 different kinds of weather inside of 24 hours," taking the little privilege of exaggeration as is customary with those who speak at banquets. On the same occasion he made the following forecast for the next day:

"Probably nor-east to sou-west winds, varying to the southward and westward and eastward and points between; high and low barometer, sweeping round from place to place, probable areas of rain, snow, hail and drought, succeeded or preceded by earthquakes with thunder and lightning."

GANDHI MEETS A CRISIS

For Mahatma Gandhi the world has turned topsy-turvy. Instead of approaching the solution of India's problems as an apostle of protest he must now become a constructionist and build where before he was engaged in tearing down.

As the acknowledged leader of the All-India congress which has supported him in his struggle with Britain, he now finds sedition within his ranks, and the struggle to maintain cohesion and unity may be more intense than his passive resistance to British rule.

The revolution headed by Gandhi with his policy of non-resistance has been one of the most unusual political events of all times. It accomplished results in British concessions which never could have been obtained by militant action. Gandhi's asceticism and political wisdom in stirring up a poverty-stricken and discontented people against a government and leading it in a fight for relief from taxation and oppression, real or fancied, had raised him to almost divine status in the estimation of his millions of followers.

But dissension has arisen among his supporters. The extremists, represented by the Youth of India league, most of whom are Reds, are denouncing Gandhi as a traitor. Their activities are disconcerting to the Gandhi program. The execution of Bhagat Singh and two fellow assassins has caused additional trouble, resulting in serious riots at Cawnpore between the Hindus and Moslems in which fifty persons were killed and over two hundred injured. Thus the ancient strife between the two religious sects flares up again and shows the exceeding difficulty of maintaining any truce between them.

The outcome of the present meeting of the National congress hangs in a delicate balance. Gandhi intimates that if his plans are not accepted, he is through with politics forever.

Facing a foe in his own ranks, he has the opportunity of showing his ability to build up good instead of destroying evil. He must create content rather than capitalize discontent.

Should he fail and give up the fight at this critical time it may leave the field wide open for communism to become the juggernaut destroying any possibility of a "United States" of India. The withdrawal of this powerful crusader for peace and passive action certainly will leave a void and may result in an outbreak of bloody civil war.

Opinions Of Others

THE DAM GOES UP

The timid said it couldn't be done. Arizona said it shouldn't be done. Private power interests said the same thing.

It's that awful thing—"government in business." It's the boldest feat in engineering since the Panama Canal, man's most arrogant gesture toward Nature. Yet up it goes, far up yonder in the granite canyons of Nevada's wilderness.

A contract for nearly $50,000,000, six times the largest ever before let by the United States government, has been awarded a six-ply group of contractors. A railroad is being built into the gorge. A model circular city, with parks, playgrounds, amusement centers and all is being planned on what till now has been a howling wilderness.

Soon the ugly Bronco Colorado that men have feared for centuries will be bridled. Tamed and made to turn out 600,000 horsepower of electricity, carry water to a score of thirsty cities, gently let down its waters to irrigate instead of to destroy the valleys below.

There's something fateful about the way things get done. An implacable logic to events that men seem to thwart. It was logical that Boulder Dam be built. So the big dam goes up.—New York World-Telegram.

FRIED CHICKEN

According to dispatches, former Indiana residents who now are living in New York have organized a club to exchange Indiana views and experiences and maintain the neighborly quality of Hoosiers. It seems that when the club was served with fried chicken some of the members objected because it was Maryland style. Experts say that chicken a la Maryland means rolling the drumsticks, wishbones, wings and other portions in batter and frying them. The Indiana way is to flour the chicken and fry it in butter, lard, bacon grease or anything preferred. The Indiana, wishing to preserve these traditions required a hotel chef to remove the a la Maryland batter and substitute the a la Indiana flouring method, but it is reported that another Indiana organization adopted a resolution declaring that "your true Hoosier takes his chicken when fried in batter or in flour." Indiana ought to be proud of a compromise. A true Hoosier might be pardoned if he accepted his chicken without a demand for the Indiana style. But when former residents, meeting under the banner of Indiana, in the state's official name and as Hoosiers temporarily located elsewhere, intimate that chicken a la chicken, regardless of the manner in which it is cooked, they speak only for themselves.—The Indianapolis News.

The Column Can Get Along Without Funny Pictures Today

IT IS significant that some of the finest tributes to Knute Rockne came from his most highly respected coaching competitors. Judge Steffen of Carnegie Tech, whose team was the first to defeat Notre Dame at South Bend in almost a quarter century, is one of them. Pop Warner, whose system is diametrically opposed to that of Rockne, is another.

And Warner, ironically enough, had flown by plane to meet Knute Rockne.

Those who had worked with and under Rockne, have lost a loved one.

Football finds itself without its dynamic champion and defender. For Rockne was more than a coach at Notre Dame. He was synonymous with college football.

There are other aviators than Lindbergh; there are other golfers than Jones; there are other baseball players than Babe Ruth.

But somehow, those names have come to typify the fields which made them great and which they, in turn, made greater.

It was thus, and even more so, with Rockne.

There is little consolation in the thought that Rockne died much as he had lived. . . . swiftly, spectacularly. . . . because there was more than speed and spectacle in what he did. Rockne was a thinker who could put winged action to his thoughts. His psychology did not concern itself with neurotics. He was much more concerned with making this science serve itself in the interests of better manhood.

We remember, as a kid of seventeen, standing at the edge of old Carter Field and watching a bald-headed dynamo dramatize that great business of football. The men on the field could either work for Rock or get out. There were no crowds in the stands. It was during spring practice, with another football season six months away. There were no kind words, no praise. The relentless, driving spirit which has cost many a coach his job was the most noticeable factor on the field.

Nobody left. Everybody worked. Rock's booming voice applied the whip all afternoon.

It was always that way with Rock. He knew what to do and when to do it.

Rock played many roles—coach, teacher, writer, radio-speaker, sales, promotion manager, professor. He did all of them well—too well, almost, because Rock nearly died a year ago—his spirit was almost too great for his body. But he was even a good invalid. He fought himself back into good health.

The passing of no other man could leave such an imprint on the hearts of a nation. Another man's death might create a nation-wide sorrow, but it could not personally strike home to so many. It is because nobody had so many friends, so few enemies. It is because you had to respect Knute Rockne.

Certainly, no other man's death could teach quite so many hard, rugged men how to cry.

You've scored a touchdown, Rock, may those who have learned from you be able to kick the extra point!

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE BURDEN-BEARERS

They do not live in vain who keep close watches where the children sleep, And give the stitches which repair The little garments children wear.

Not vain these lives which seem to stay On guard where happy children play And never venture far for fear There'll come a cry they may not hear.

Though dull at times the tasks appear, And weariness is ever near, There is a dream such mothers hold Surpassing worldly fame or gold.

Beyond their dreary tasks they see The man or woman soon to be, And all the endless steps they take Are suffered for the children's sake.

Nor would they say they'd lived in vain, Enduring weariness and pain, If at the end their children rise Great-hearted, gentle, true and wise. (Copyright, 1931, Edgar A. Guest)

THE GREAT ANNUAL ECLIPSE!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

ABOUT TIME FOR THE ANNUAL CLEAN-UP

Today's Best Letter finds us ankle deep in March. But maybe it is timely.

Dear Mr. Brady:

I am writing to tell you we all read all your write ups in the paper and wish you would tell us exactly what you mean by not taking a bath if you are not dirty. Don't you think we need a bath once a week anyway, and not go 11 years or more without one? There is a battle in this household over soap and water. Do you think it is hurtful to any one, especially children, to use soap and water? You know how dirty they get and how impossible it is to get them clean without it. I mean as they wash in the morning and at other times in the day.

(Mrs. M. J. D.)

Well, what if Mrs. D. if you're very clean of course you don't need a bath, and the dirtier you are the more frequently you must submit to a wet wash.

Even the old house cat needs some cleaning, and as for the dog, if he is anything like ours he needs a bath every day or two. But birds or animals in nature keep clean without soap and water. People who wear little or no clothing certainly need less washing of the body than people who wear an excess of clothing—I mean for the removal of unpleasant, malodorous accumulations from the body surface.

Even an ordinary citizen wearing the conventional garb of civilization may keep clean in this respect without allowing his tub or even indulging in a shower from one year to another. It is chiefly a matter of frequent change of clothing.

Of course it is necessary for everybody to wash his hands, preferably with soap and water, several times a day, and always before taking food or drink.

Often the health authorities who dwell so fondly on the importance of regular bathing are downright negligent about real hygienic cleanliness. Get the dirtiest food and dirtiest vendors who fail to provide facilities for hand washing that a self-respecting patron can use. The filthy equipment found in many restaurants is a sad reproach to the health or sanitary authorities.

Mind, I consider cleanliness only from the hygienic viewpoint, and have no concern about the esthetic side.

It is an excellent rule for every household that dirty hands shall not be tolerated at table.

For the life of me I can't understand how people who pretend to be so squeamish about daily bathing can enter a restaurant and sit down to eat without a thought about washing their hands.

Such folks are inclined to look on one who doesn't believe in brushing his teeth as rather a dirty fellow. Perhaps his teeth are not so pearly white as the teeth of an individual who devotes a considerable part of his spare time and his spare cash in scrubbing, polishing, bleaching, but at that the guy with the unbrushed teeth is ready at any time to compare teeth with any guy who brushes his. It is really as silly to try to clean your own teeth as it would be to try to clean your tonsils or your stomach. A dentist or his assistant, the dental hygienist, is the only person who can really clean anybody's teeth.

Speaking as a doctor experienced in examining all sorts of people, I am sure the frequency with which a person indulges in a wet wash has very little to do with what we commonly regard as cleanliness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Common Comb.

I have failed to notice that any barber or hair dresser bothers to sterilize the comb, or in a busy hour even to wash his hands between customers. Why isn't that required as a safety precaution? Why not invent some kind of comb that could be thrown away after it has been used on one person? (G. A.)

Answer—It is not of much importance, that is, in my opinion. I have never noticed whether the barber attempts to sterilize his comb. Even if he should use a new comb for each customer, I don't believe it would make any difference so far as possible spread of disease is concerned.

The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

JUST as the boat pulled up to shore we Clowny cried, "I want some more. Aw, gee, don't stop this fine ride now. I think it's simply great. It's getting late and pretty soon I'm sure there'll be a big, bright moon. Of course it's time for dinner, but I think we can wait."

The other Tines joined right in and soon created quite a din. "We want to ride till dark," they cried. The Travel Man laughed loud. "All right," he said, "we'll drift a bit. It seems that you're all feeling fit. I'll gladly do most anything to please this happy crowd."

A brilliant moon rose on high and made a picture in the sky. The Tinymites hummed pretty tunes till they were sleepy heads. And then the boatman pulled to shore and with jump and mighty roar, the whole bunch jumped up to the dock and cried, "New for our beds."

A very fine hotel was found and after looking all around, they hied up to a suite of rooms, as classy as could be. The Travel Man said, "Sleep! Don't play. Tomorrow is another day! We'll get up good and early so some new sights we can see."

"At dawn," said Clowny, "I'm in town to take a fine, refreshing swim. I know where we can rent some suits. Let's hike far from here and look the sky is fine and clear. The bathhouse sits right up on shore and won't be hard to reach."

It wasn't long till everyone was swimming round and having fun. Vee Scouty dove away down and upset the Travel Man. When he came up he said, "Hey, you! You'll get a dandy ducking, too." But when he chased Vee Scouty, off the little dickens ran.

Today's Anniversary

CHARLEMAGNE'S BIRTH
On April 2, 742, Charlemagne, French name of Charles the Great, king of the Franks and Roman emperor, was born in either Aix-la-Chapelle or Ingelheim.

Charlemagne began his conquests by crossing the Alps and completely subduing northern Italy. He was acknowledged King of Lombardy in 774. At Easter of this same year he visited Rome where the Pope conferred upon him the title "Patrician of Rome."

For several years thereafter Charlemagne made frequent expeditions into Spain. He later defeated the Saxons and carried his arms into Bohemia, Bavaria, and Hungary. The Frankish dominion now comprised the whole of France, and most of Germany and Austria.

Great as a warrior, Charlemagne was even greater as an administrator and civil ruler. He divided the empire systematically, placing each division under military, judicial, and civil authority. A real, but short, renaissance of learning took place in the Frankish kingdom. Charlemagne died January 28, 814.

Volcatt was the last surviving member in the list. All have passed to that land of promise.

The aged people now residing in the city must realize that they are rapidly entering into the Shadow of the setting sun and that in the natural course of events their time to pass over the River, will come at no distant day.

Courteously submitted, W. M. ROBLEE

TOO MANY OFFICERS

Editor Post-Crescent—I was much interested in the article in the Forum a few days ago, in regard to taxes.

I believe there are thousands of readers who believe just as the Medina writer does. Why not discuss with some of the extra-officers?

Some years ago a farmer was getting, but the bottom fell out of the farmer's prices.

To date, I have not heard of officers salaries being lowered though the cost of living has lowered.

I was in favor of having a reasonable tax on cars (yes I have one) for thousands pay not a cent in tax, except the gas tax.

Why should cars costing thousands of dollars go untaxed while a small farm or a house in town costing less than the big car, pay a heavy tax?

Then we are grieved to death or taxed in various ways to get rid of germs.

One old pioneer said: "When the country was new, we thought we would have to shoot some one, to start a graveyard," but now folks are dying off rapidly. There is plenty of shooting going on now, but too much money is spent bringing down criminals to justice.

If these in authority wish to really help the taxpayer, who needs help, let them put in the hours that the farmer or laborer does, and they would be less need for help in the office.

I too, say "Wake up."

A PIONEER.

Seymour, Wis., April 1.

FOR MORE ECONOMY

Editor Post-Crescent—I was very much pleased to read that our state taking inventory of county expenses. Expenses, given in county board report, should almost suffice for supervisor's salaries. The working man receives but a fraction of their salaries and then has his own expenses to pay.

I have been a taxpayer for about thirty years in Outagamie County and I note their expenses are an outrage in a time of depression like this.

It appears that teachers' wages are being reduced in many schools. Who does the work the teacher or supervisor?

The supervisors are getting more than three times what many teachers are receiving in this county, but it is the teachers who do the work.

A few minutes past four the supervisors drive home, mileage paid for the days work, by the county.

When a supervisor who has never attended high school or graduated from a normal attempts to dictate to teachers, who have had more education, training than she has, it is a practical joke. I am for education, but extravagance should not be permitted.

Lets get busy and give this subject more discussion before election, and see if we can get taxes where they belong.

4 BADGER COUNTIES BAR MILWAUKEEANS AS DIVORCE SEEKERS

Milwaukee —(P)—Notice that Milwaukee divorce seekers will henceforth be barred from the courts of Waukesha, Ozaukee, Washington and Dodge-counties has been issued by Judge C. M. Davison. It was revealed here today.

The ban on Milwaukeeans was attributed to discord originating in the secret proceedings of a divorce trial held here recently before Judge Byron E. Park, Stevens Point. Judge Davison, who presides in the circuit courts of the counties enumerated, made his announcement yesterday at Waukesha. He presided originally in the Seyfert divorce trial which was carried to the supreme court—where it was ordered back for a new trial.

Although the Seyfert case was originally tried in Ozaukee-co, Judge Seyfert decided to hold his hearing in Milwaukee. When the hearing was completed Milwaukee-co billed Ozaukee-co $46 for the services of clerks and bailiffs. Judge Davison

Child Must Be Told How To Do Things

BY ANGELO PATRI

"You believe in a free school, don't you?"

"Of course I do," said I. "The free the better. Why?"

"I tried having one but I guess I'm not very good at it. Anyway something is the matter. Will you come in some day and look at my work and tell me what you think of it?"

The school room was a lovely place. Any child would have been glad to have stayed in it. There were pictures and models, and toys and books, tools and games. Pets, too, were there, and flowers and sunshine. A playground and even a tree for climbing stood by the wall.

"I just can't seem to get anywhere with them. Unless I make them do something they do nothing but mess things up. They go from one thing to the other and I find at the end of the term that they have accomplished about nothing at all."

"Don't you tell them what is to be done? Suggest work and give them the materials and direct them how to use them?"

"But that would be imposing myself on the children and I don't want to do that."

Now that attitude is a good one for a teacher to hold. But when he or she is teaching the little children, it is to be held in the background. It is not to be expected that children can enter a classroom and teach themselves. If they could there would be no need for teachers.

As it is teachers will be in demand as long as there are children. A teacher is a leader, first. She is a mother, next. She is an authority all the time.

Some things children will do without being told to do. They will pick up a ball and play with it. So much they can be trusted to do. But they cannot, and for that reason, will not, teach themselves to read. That is the work of a highly skilled teacher. The best way we have found to teach reading and other things like it, is by way of method, regular lessons at a set time each day. No skipping a lesson, no shirking a single exercise. Tables of sound, mastery of words, phrases, sentences, the technique of reading are to be taught and learned. If the child goes past his language period without getting all the power out of it at this, his high tide, he is going to be handicapped for a lifetime. And I have never seen the child who did not need to be held to his routine.

Tables are to be learned early in school life and learned perfectly. Children in the early grades learn these things with ease and generally with pleasure provided they are taught them properly. The primary classes have the same dignity in their work, the same earnestness, and the same interest and pleasure in mastering the fundamentals of school work as do their seniors in the high school.

There is a freedom that is a delusion and a snare. There is a bondage that is a freedom and a joy. The bondage to duty, to the job in hand, makes for freedom from ignorance. The go-as-you-please idea makes for the bitter bondage of a soul trammelled by ignorance and its own error.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"WHO drove that taxicab?" Judge Thornton asked the question quite simply. Some of the jurors looked a little bored. They had counted on a more dramatic question.

But all the theatricalism necessary was in the steel-edged answer that Sybil gave.

"The taxicab in which I rode that night was driven by Miss Sue Merryman, who was in disguise."

Sue felt the astonishment that crept into people's widened eyes, opened mouths, hunched shoulders. "Just why was Miss Merryman in disguise?" Judge Thornton continued.

"I don't know." "That is all, Miss Lester. May I put Miss Sue Merryman on the stand?" Judge Thornton appealed to the court.

As Sue took her seat on the witness box she had a strange sensation that she was acting in a play. It was so unreal for her to be there, questioned by Judge Thornton whose typist she had been for nearly a year. But it was wonderfully comforting to have Jack's gray eyes smiling steadily at her. She wouldn't be afraid! She was glad for the gay jangling of the black and orange costume. But she knew that she must protect Corinne. But how?

She looked at Jack and he nodded understandingly.

If she could just have a minute to ask him what she should say.... If she didn't tell on Corinne everyone would think that she had purposely framed Sybil. If she told on her, the manager of the taxicab company could be produced as material witness. Corinne was actually in his employ.

Corinne, she noted, was talking excitedly to Jack.

Then the questioning had started. "Miss Merryman, why were you driving a taxicab that night?"

"I was doing it for a friend who was ill and unable to attend to her duties. It was necessary for someone to replace her if she wanted to keep her position."

The words came so easily that Sue was surprised. Somehow she wasn't afraid. The faces of the audience dropped and swayed together and settled down into individuals. The clock was ticking steadily. It was raining and the water ran in little brown streams down the dirty window panes. Someone at the press table was writing and the heavy black pencil scribbled as it made dark lines on the copy paper.

"Why were you in disguise, Miss Merryman?"

"In order to keep people from distinguishing between the friend whom I was replacing and myself."

"Oh, so the real driver also was doing the thing in masquerade? This seems to be a guessing party."

"Yes."

"And why?"

"I object!" Jack was standing again. "I don't believe that it is necessary to discuss that angle. It has no bearing on the case."

"The objection is overruled. Continue with the witness." The judge nodded to Judge Thornton.

"Why did this friend want to be disguised?"

Sue glanced at Jack, questioning.

NEXT: Corinne takes the witness stand.

Slenderizing

2859

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON
Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson
Furnished with Every Pattern

When you study this smart model, you'll see it's really very slenderizing.

It's full of charm and so thoroughly wearable.

To be certain, it has the best known slimming feature—the deep V-front that reaches to the waistline. Then there's the softly falling jabot revers that detract so beautifully from breadth.

The hip yoke of the circular skirt is the smartest depth to give the matronly figure slenderness. There are many lovely materials that adapt themselves admirably to this model. Navy blue flat crepe silk with white as sketched is extremely chic.

Crepe marocain, crepe woolsens, printed crepe silk and many rayon novelties are ideal selections.

Style No. 2859 may be had in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material with 3/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: My mother died when I was young and my grandmother has taken care of the family since that time. Now I am old enough to go to work and my grandmother and father insist that I go. But I think it is selfish and cruel of me to let an old woman go on working herself to death. I could stay at home and help her, if she and my father would allow it. She ought to have nothing to do, at her age. TROUBLED DAUGHTER.

It's useless to argue with the older people, if their minds are firmly made up. Undoubtedly they want to give you your chance in life and feel that you will never get it if you remain at home.

Your grandmother might never know another moment's happiness if her work were suddenly ended and she found herself completely idle, with nothing to do but watch you run the house which she has managed successfully for so many years. Hard workers do not take to luxury and idleness very quickly—certainly not at your grandmother's age. And if you insisted on remaining at home, in spite of her urgent protests, domestic harmony might be broken up completely.

So why don't you take the job that is offered to you, make the best of it in every way, and then, once you are earning a decent salary insist that some sort of help be employed to take the work off grandmother's shoulders. In that way you'd be doing yourself no grave injustice, and you'd be taking the burden of work from an old woman who needs and deserves a rest.

J. L. L.: So far you have only vague suspicions to go on, except for the one clear fact—that your husband has definitely taken the girl to the movies, and that he confessed this to you eventually.

Outside of that—what is the story? A pretty girl in an office, a susceptible, middle-aged man, a rather pathetic sob-story on the girl's side, and a too impressionable nature on the man's. A great deal of trouble can be woven out of these elements, but I doubt very much whether a real romance will ever result from this combination of circumstances. Not unless you do something drastic to make the situation seem more grave than it really is.

It's doubtful whether your husband feels anything more than a great deal of sentimental sympathy for the pretty young sufferer who leads such a hard life. He hasn't the faintest intention of falling in love with her but his rather romantic notions are leading him toward a flirtation.

Don't make this a triangle situation by storming around the house and insisting that he leave the office, or have the girl discharged. Tell him that if he finds her attractive enough to take her to the movies, he might enjoy inviting her to his home. Offer to do what you can to help her. Put yourself in an attractive light as a benefactress, instead of an avenging wife.

His love for you is deeper than his attraction toward this girl. But you can make yourself infinitely disagreeable—you can set yourself up as the eternal school-teacher, whom he feels impelled to disobey, if you lack tact and discretion. Just keep remembering that he hasn't really done anything very wrong and that if this situation is treated lightly, it will soon be in the background of his thoughts.

R. J.: Keep your mind on the job in hand and forget what might happen if you were to lose your position. You'll worry yourself out of the situation, if you're not careful. The longer you hold that post, the more confidence you'll acquire, so hang on and stop looking fearfully over your shoulder to see what blow old Man Fate has in store for you. Courage is what you need, and after you've had some real experience in the business world, you'll gain courage.

TAX EXEMPTION ON NEW HOMES HELD ILLEGAL

Opinion on Proposed Relief Measure Submitted to Council

Neenah—The city cannot exempt from taxes new homes or new manufacturing and industrial plants, as suggested by the Citizens committee on Unemployed. It has no power to make such exemptions without legislative authority.

This was the opinion of City Attorney John O'Leary presented to the common council Wednesday evening. Some time ago it was suggested that, in order to encourage construction, taxes on such property be exempt for five years on homes costing over $7,500. The proposal was made to the council in a communication from the Unemployed Committee, and was referred to the city attorney.

The proposed appropriation of a sum of $2,000 to encourage new industries, is legal, however, according to Mr. O'Leary.

Alderman William Schmidt asked that the question of a general garbage collection system be explained for the voters. H. S. Zemlock, city clerk, estimated roughly that the cost of such a system would amount to approximately $5,000.

The city would be about one-third of a mile, or approximately 55 cents per capita for the year.

To Open Stevens-St Stevens-st will be opened from Doty-ave to Cecil-st, according to action taken at the meeting. The motion made at the last meeting to secure an option on a certain property along the proposed thoroughfare was rescinded and the city attorney was authorized to start condemnation proceedings. Other obstacles have appeared along the route since the matter was first brought up, it was reported.

Permission was granted two interurban bus lines to operate in the city. They are the Northland Greyhound Lines, Inc., operating buses between Chicago and Minneapolis, and the Interstate Transit company, operating buses between Green Bay and Chicago. Both lines propose to enter the city by way of Commercial-st, make the loop around Doty-ave to Walnut-st and then to Wisconsin-ave its terminal, the Valley Inn.

The matter of securing an option on the Volkman property on Smith and Martin-sts was referred to the city clerk, and the city committee. An offer has been given the city of $1,000 with permission to sell the house and a part of the lot to the abutting property owner in order to straighten out the street. An option also will be secured on a lot at the corner of Van and Adams-sts for a pumping station. The board of public works was authorized to purchase a sewer pump to carry on its sewer work.

Mayor George Sande suggested that the council take under advisement the proposed paving of one or two streets, especially Forest-ave which is in bad condition. Paving at this time, the mayor pointed out, should be available at a reasonable cost.

Thank Street Workers A vote of appreciation was given the street commissioner and his crew of men who worked diligently during the storm last Saturday to keep streets in the city open.

A petition for a walk on the east side of Grove-st was referred to the proper committee; and Brien-st will be improved. Abandoned automobiles on certain streets will be ordered removed. The finance committee reported on bills totaling $2,842.10, which the county tax totaled $76,000; purchase of the Stafford property for extending a street, $2,800; sewer work, $2,100; waterworks department, $4,999; electric light and power, $1,300 and other items.

The application of John Manz for a license to operate a roller skating rink at S. A. Cook armory was held open for investigation of the police department and justices, and the poor committee were referred to the attorney.

BRIGADE CAMP SUPPER NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Neenah—The annual Brigade camp supper at which arrangements are made for the annual camp in June at Camp Onaway, will be held next Wednesday evening at Presbyterian church dining room. Mrs. Dick, camp cook, will prepare supper for the 150 members. Serving will start at 6 o'clock.

Following the supper a program of magic will be given by R. S. S. a professional magician of Ripon, followed by motion pictures of 1930 camp life on Onaway Island, taken by S. F. Shattuck.

Fred Jandrey, who was a student in the "Fighting University," was the speaker at the Monday and Tuesday evening meetings of the Brigade groups. He spoke to the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade groups, some of the younger groups joining with the others during the Tuesday evening program. The lower groups joined in athletic sports in the gymnasium.

19 MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED DURING MARCH

Neenah—There were only 19 marriage licenses issued in March in Winnebago-co, according to George Mueller, county clerk. That number is less than in March for any of the four previous years.

There were 23 licenses issued in March, last year. Records for March in other years are: 1929—21; 1928—20; and 1927—34. The first three months this year also show a decrease from the figures for the same period of 1930. There were 20 licenses issued in January and 20 in February, making a total of 59 thus far this year as compared to 71 for the first three months of last year.

FAVORABLE DECISION SEEN FOR FOX FARMS

Report of Examiner Finds Freight Rates on Horses Discriminatory

Neenah—Wisconsin silver fox farms will gain the equality with Rockford, Ill., fox farms, for which they have fought, if the interstate commerce commission accepts the report proposed by Examiner Harris Fleming concerning freight rates on horses to be used as food for the foxes.

The Cedarburg Fox Farms, supported by four fox fur breeders' associations representing fox farms at Appleton, Waukegan, Milwaukee, Manitowish, Neenah, Two Rivers, Eau Claire, Kewaunee and nearly 30 other Wisconsin points, filed a complaint with the U. S. C. in June, 1930, asking lower rates on horses shipped to fox farms at Thiensville, Grafton, Rib Falls, and Marathon City. They charged that the rates are unreasonable, and unduly prejudicial when compared with rates on horses shipped to fox farms at Rockford, Ill.

The horses are fed range horses from Montana, the Dakotas and Wyoming, or work horses that have outlived their usefulness. They are shipped alive to Wisconsin and slaughtered at the plants. To Wisconsin, the rates are full horse rates, whereas, shipments to Rockford take the cattle rate which is 10 per cent lower than the Wisconsin horse rate. It was pointed out. The use of the range horses in the feed of horses began in Montana in 1924 in an effort to rid the state of its great excess of range horses, which consumed food and water and menaced the welfare of stock. It applies only to common horses not good for anything but slaughtering. In his report, Examiner Fleming found the rates, in themselves, not unreasonable, but upheld the charges of unfair preference in favor of the competitors at Rockford. A complaint attacking the rates on such horses shipped interstate from Wisconsin points to Thiensville, Grafton, Rib Falls and Marathon City, is now pending before the railway commission of Wisconsin. The hearing on the general case was a joint hearing at Madison of the Wisconsin commission and the interstate commerce commission.

The locals came back, however, and fought on even terms during the first quarter, which ended 5 all. In the second quarter the Epworths took a four point lead, trailing, 15 and 9. After intermission they came back strong, exhibiting an impregnable defense which allowed but one field goal during the entire half. This came in the third quarter, while the Epworths were pulling up 8 points. The final quarter started with the score 17 and 17.

POLICE WONDER WHAT TO DO WITH INFANT

Milwaukee—(AP)—Unless New York police have amplified their orders it appeared likely that a one and one half year old child and its parents would be separated here today.

When Milwaukee police received a request to hold David Popper, 39, wanted in New York for abandonment of a wife and three children four years ago, detectives promptly arrested Popper at a rooming house. Bertha Hirschel, 24, and the child were taken into custody.

Authorities said Popper readily confessed he and Bertha fled New York four years ago and had lived in Chicago two years before coming here.

"Officer arrives Thursday to return Popper and woman," New York police replied when advised of the arrests. Milwaukee police were wondering whether the eastern officer will accept the child.

KNOW HIGH GRADE SECURITIES BEFORE MAKING INVESTMENT

Bonds Should Pay Interest and Stocks Should Pay Dividends

(This is the eighth of a series of articles discussing the application of investment principles to present day conditions in business and in securities.)

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES

(Copyright, 1931, by Cona. Press)
New York — Advice to invest in high grade securities is not helpful without some definition of what a high grade security is, and at the same time such a definition is not easy to give. What is meant of course is a security about which there is no doubt as to the payment of interest, if it is a bond, and as to the continuance of dividend payments if it is a stock.

This is a standard of perfection approached in varying degree but never quite reached nor is there anything static about the rank of any specific bond or stock. The investment rating of all securities is subject to change and the best that can be hoped for is that these changes will come so gradually as to give the holder plenty of time to readjust his program.

Take United States bonds for example, there can be no doubt about the ability and willingness of the American Government to meet its obligations and yet a decade ago the same would have been said in Berlin about German Government securities. Or, to take a stock now in the first rank, U. S. Steel Preferred less than twenty-five years ago was a speculative security.

Probably as good a description as we can give of a high grade security is one that is responsive in money prices only to changes in money rates. If the U. S. Treasury reports a deficit for the next fiscal year and would not affect the market valuation of the preferred stock. To take one more example, the present extreme depression in the railway business, the falling off of car loading, and the decreases in gross and net earnings are not reflected in the market price of such a bond as Atchison General 4s. Any security of this grade fluctuates only in response to the prevailing interest rate.

FEAR CERMAK MIGHT CREATE NEW TAMMANY

Thompson Finds This Thought Effective Weapon Against Opponent

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press Chicago—(CPA)—Strange as it may seem, New York city's blasts of civic indignation are reverberating in Chicago—now in the throes of a mayoral campaign.

Most effective of the arguments against removing Mayor William Hale Thompson from the Chicago political scene at the polls next Tuesday, is proving to be the claim that Anton J. Cermak, Democratic candidate, if elected would create a Chicago Tammany.

This thought evidently causes many Chicagoans to shudder. It is real enough to bring from one of the leading newspaper supporters of the Democratic candidate demand for specific promises of civil service reforms that would preclude the development of an unbreakable patronage machine.

It has caused the Better government association, a reform organization long opposed to Mayor Thompson, to say:

"In the public's eagerness to hasten the departure of unworthy leaders, there is danger of establishing an infinitely worse condition under a ruthless Chicago Tammany, closing the door to a new leadership."

Uncertainty Seen

This fear appears to rise from uncertainty over the ideals of Nominee Cermak, who has emerged from relative obscurity to a position of large political power in the brief period of a few years.

He is a pupil and a disciple of the old-line Democratic bosses in Illinois, Roger Sullivan and George Brennan. He fought his way to control of the Democratic organization on Mr. Brennan's death three years ago, and now holds more power than either of his prominent predecessors in the hey-day of their reigns.

This is the basis of "Big Bill" Thompson's designation of his opponent as "Dictator Tony."

Already Cermak, as Democratic county committee chairman and president of the Cook-co board, controls the county government from top to bottom; he has the strongest hold on the immensely rich in patronage sanitary district; he has a hold on the forest preserves and park boards and would be in charge of the municipal government with all the power that signifies, if chosen mayor next Tuesday.

The Democratic candidate has been in Chicago politics for 23 years, going through the gauntlet from precinct officer to legislator, to alderman, court bailiff and county commissioner. While he has never been on the side of the reformers, because of a life long affiliation with wet forces, the candidate has a reputation for accomplishment.

He is described as an efficient administrator, will to delegate authority to competent assistants and to back them up. His intimate acquaintance with Chicago's government is counted upon to provide him with the necessary background to tackle

OLD HYMN MIXED UP WITH "HOW DRY I AM" PLAYED BY CHIMES

Minneapolis—(AP)—Perhaps the chiming were out of tune. At any rate J. H. Auld is peeved about the telephone calls he's been getting from lots of folks protesting that he had played the old barroom favorite, "How Dry I Am," on the courthouse chiming. It wasn't that at all," he said. "It was an old hymn, 'Oh, Happy Days.' It sounded like 'How Dry I Am,' it was simply a case of 'evil to him who evil thinks.'"

MORE THAN 5,000 SEEK ENTRANCE TO MILITARY CAMPS

Break Record for Number of Applications—Double Number Last Year

Chicago—Major General Frank Parker, commanding Sixth Corps Area, announced today that over five thousand applications had been received for Citizens Military Training camps, thus breaking all records. This is nearly double the number on the corresponding date last year, when the final enrollment totalled effectively the monumental problems that confront the next mayor.

Chicago business interests, who long supported Mayor Thompson when reformers wanted him removed, now are almost solidly behind Cermak.

The chief worry, in case of his election, appears today to be over the possibility of his construction of a huge political machine, comparable to the Tammany organization in New York and the Vore machine in Pennsylvania.

ten thousand applications for forty-seven hundred places in the camps. With nearly three thousand applications to be acted on at CMTC headquarters the complete list cannot be announced for several weeks. The established rule of "First come first served" is being rigidly followed.

The basic and infantry quotas at Fort Sheridan, Illinois, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and Fort Snelling, Minn., are about 80 per cent filled. The Cavalry quota for Michigan has been filled. Seventy-five per cent of the Cavalry quota for Illinois and fifty per cent of the Cavalry quota for Wisconsin have been filled. Illinois and Michigan have enrolled seventy per cent of their Field Artillery candidates and Wisconsin fifty per cent. The Cavalry and Field Artillery training is conducted at Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

Camp Custer and Fort Brady, Michigan, both enrolling Basic and Infantry candidates, are almost filled. A few additional applications may still be accepted to complete the organization of the CMTC bands and to replace cancellations as they occur.

The latest information from the War Department, as of March 20, shows the national quota of 37,500 already oversubscribed. A total of 42,766 applications is reported; nearly 17,000 more than for the corresponding date of last year.

THE UPPER ROOM

By Dr. H. E. Peabody
Pastor, First Congregational Church

On the day before Good Friday our Lord spent the time until evening at the village of Bethany, quietly with his disciples. We know nothing of what they did or said. But that evening was one of the most memorable in all human history, and our records of it in the gospel story are very full and precious. They are found chiefly in five chapters in the Book of John, centering in the fourteenth chapter. Someone has said that the leaf in one's Bible containing that chapter is the first to wear out with use.

I remember a scene over thirty years ago in the roaring, new mining camp of Creede, Colorado. I was called into a rough shack that was being used as an undertaker's place. A prospector had been killed by the cave-in of a mining shaft in the mountain side. His "partner" was there with the body, and this partner was as rough a looking chap as ever came out of a pirate ship or gambler's den. "What would you like to have me do for the service?" said I. "Won't you read the fourteenth chapter of John?" he replied. Looking at him, his remark almost took my breath away with surprise. I opened my New Testament and read, "Let not your heart be troubled. Ye believe in God, believe also in Me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if I were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go, I will come again and receive you unto myself."

The humblest men and kings, philosophers and little children have all been comforted and inspired by those words spoken in the Upper Room that evening. If you would be truly prepared for Good Friday, sit down quietly, open your Bible and read that chapter again thoughtfully.

The uproar of the trial and the agony of the cross were only a few hours away, and our Lord longed for a good, quiet, sheltered evening with his most intimate friends before the storm broke. He had arranged for it beforehand in a large upper room in the home of a friend in the City. As evening fell he sat down to table with his disciples saying, "I have longed eagerly to eat this supper with you before I suffer." What an occasion! O, to have been there in that company! It is not strange that what was said and done there has been called "The Heart of Jesus." He opened his heart there to those eleven apostles, as he could not open it to the crowd in the market place. The inmost secrets of the Christian life are opened there, and they sank into those disciples' minds so deeply and they have recorded them so fully, that we can almost live those blessed hours over again with them.

Sometime during that evening Jesus for the first time took bread and, when he had given thanks, broke it and gave it to his disciples saying, "This is my body which is for you. Do this in remembrance of me."

STURGEON FISHING BILL VETOED BY GOVERNOR

Madison—(AP)—Gov. Philip LaFollette used his veto power for the first time yesterday when he disapproved of a bill to permit sturgeon fishing in certain counties. The bill was introduced by Sen. Merritt White, Winnebago, and would have opened the sturgeon season in various waters of Calumet, Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Marquette, Green Lake and Waupaca-cos between Sept. 1 and Oct. 31, with a limit of five sturgeon a season. An assembly amendment to permit spearing of fish was the point disapproved by the governor.

"The conservation director," the governor said in his veto message, "advises that that portion of this bill which provides an open season for spearing sturgeon through the ice in Lake Winnebago between Jan. 1 and March 1 would be unwise."

Also the cup, saying "This cup is the new covenant in my blood. Do this in remembrance of me."

Also that evening he told them of "The Unseen Friendship" that they would have, saying, "I will pray the Father and he shall give you another Comforter, even the Spirit of Truth, whom the world cannot receive, for it beholdeth Him not; but you know Him, for He abideth with you and shall be in you."

And read on and find how our Lord unfolds the truth, the secrets of the inner life, in "full many a gem of purest ray serene." "Love one another, as I have loved you." "I am the way, the Truth and the Life." "No longer do I call you servants, but friends." "My peace I leave with you." "My joy I give unto you."

"Father, I pray that they may all be one, and may be with me where I am, and they may behold my glory."

And as we read, if we will but stop and ponder what we read, we shall find ourselves in heavenly company.

Many Unusual Claims Made Against State For Damages

Madison—(AP)—With the legislative session well underway, the session is again open for claims against the state.

More than a score of bills have been introduced by senators and assemblymen on behalf of their constituents which, if enacted into law, would provide for the payment of claims ranging from $50 to $17,000. Several claims are for damage caused by deer and bear, the claimants basing their appeal on the ground that the law forbids killing the animals. Other claims are for work done for the state or injuries caused by employees of the commonwealth.

Like other legislatures, the present one regards these claims unkindly. Most of them are killed before they get through one house but others find their way through the senate or assembly or both.

One would compensate a Gordon, Wis., farmer to the extent of $180 for rutabagas eaten by deer while another bill proposed to award a Solon Springs farmer $115.75 for corn eaten by bear. Alfalfa apparently also serves as a piece de resistance for deer inasmuch as a bill would award a Westcott farmer $112.40.

Then there is a claim for $100 from a Washburn storekeeper who complained that a fawn deer jumped through the plate glass window of his store. Deer ate $75 worth of carrots on a Pembina farmer's carrot patch and a bill asking the payment of that amount has been introduced in the assembly.

A Cable, Wis., farmer has a claim in for $121 for 11 sheep killed by bear while one of Sen. James Barker's constituents wants $250 for 21 sheep which met a similar fate. A Dunbar farmer, like the one in Cable, suffered the loss of 11 sheep but his bill is for $110.

William Roycroft of Superior also had some dealings with Wisconsin deer. His auto collided with one near Drummond and caused $53.50 damage to his car. A bill asking payment of that amount has been introduced in the senate.

There are other varied claims embodied in bills. One is for $274.45 for injuries suffered when the complainant's daughter was struck by a conservation commission truck. Another is for $12,500 for being run down by a state-owned automobile. One claim is for $17,707.73 which the complainant alleges is due for work in construction of a grandstand at the state fair park.

A racing car ran into a spectator at the state fair. He asks for $50.25 to pay for his hospital bill and the cost of repairing his clothes. A Luxemburg farmer contends that two head of cattle were slaughtered by the state for having tuberculosis. He asks $74.74.

A bill has been introduced in both the assembly and senate to pay John A. Johnson $5,000 for serving 10 years in the state prison for a crime which he did not commit. This is the only claim of this nature on file in the present legislature.

Few of the claims get past the joint committee on finance which is

Your Home GARDEN

(This is the tenth of a series of articles on home gardening written especially for the Post-Crescent.)

BY WILLIAM R. BEATTIE
Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S.
Department of Agriculture

Water for your garden is just as important as good soil and seeds.

There may be too much water in some cases, and too much water is usually more of a handicap than too little water. For best results we should have just the right amount of water in our garden soil.

It is easy to carry a few pails of water from the spring or the well for the purpose of "watering in" a row of cabbage or tomato plants, but when it comes to supplying tons and tons of water to quench the thirst of a patch of sweet corn or cabbage, that's another problem.

Many Ways To Get Water

In the east there are three important systems of distributing water to the crops. There are the overhead sprinkler system employing lines of pipe mounted on poles and having numerous small nozzles the full length of the pipes to distribute the water; the furrow or flooding system by which the water is allowed to run in small furrows or trenches along the rows of plants; and the underground or subirrigation system.

Where the land is comparatively level or only slightly sloping, the furrow method is highly satisfactory. Little furrows are opened alongside the rows of plants with the corner of a hoe or with a little hand garden plow and the water is simply allowed to flow freely in these furrows until the plants have had a good drink.

After the water has settled away the soil is returned to the furrows and cultivated.

Underground System

Subirrigation, or underground irrigation, is adapted for use only where the subsoil is of such nature that the water will not readily waste through it. The usual method is to lay lines of open joint tiles a little below the depth of plowing, the lines being spaced four to eight feet apart.

The tiles are laid practically level or they may be given a fall of about four inches in 100 feet and used as drains during wet weather. In that case the lower ends of the tiles open into a ditch and are plugged when the tiles are used for irrigation.

In operation the water is admitted at one end of the tiles, usually the upper end, and escapes through the joints into the soil.

How to Water Plants

Rules for watering garden crops are rather simple. However, there are a few points that must be observed. Frequent light sprinkling of the surface of the soil in dry weather will cause the roots of the plants to develop near the surface. This results in shallow-rooted plants that will die in case the frequent sprinkling is discontinued.

The proper method is to give the plants a good watering once every five to 10 days in dry weather, the frequency of watering being determined by the character of the soil.

Bids on Work in Outagamie and Calumet-cos to Be Opened at Green Bay

One of the four road construction projects, on which bids are to be advertised soon by the Green Bay division of the state highway department, is that of laying 3.8 miles of concrete on Highway 55 in Calumet-co and 1.7 miles on the same road in Outagamie-co. The total miles in the four projects is 25.5 miles of concrete and about eight miles of grading.

Eight miles of the concrete work will be done in Brown-co, on Highway 78, between Bay Settlement and Dykesville, while three more miles of concrete will be laid on Highway 78 from Dykesville to the north county line in Kewaunee-co.

In Shawano-co, 9 miles of concrete will be laid on Highway 29, between Shawano and Wausau. The work in Outagamie and Calumet-cos, will be done on Highway 55, from Sherwood to the north county line in Calumet-co and from the south county line to Kaukauna in Outagamie-co.

All of the grading work is in Brown and Calumet-cos, on Highway 57. In Brown-co, the highway will be graded from the south county line

Sandy loose soils require watering oftener than the heavier loam soils.

Enough water should be applied to soak the soil to a depth of three or four inches, or about the same as would result from a good rain.

Another point—keep an eye on the weather and don't water heavily when rain is threatening.

to Askeaton, and in Calumet from Hubert to the north county line.

Bids on the work named above will be opened at the courthouse here at 10 o'clock in the morning on April 15. The work on Highway 78 will be included in one project, that on Highway 29 in another project, that on Highway 55 in another, and that on Highway 57 in the fourth.

This is the first letting to be announced by the Green Bay office, but plans for further highway construction in the ten counties of this division are on file at Madison, and other lettings may be announced within a short time. All lettings should be completed by the end of May.

Notre Dame, South Bend Mourn As Rockne's Body Comes Home

FUNERAL PLANS NOT COMPLETED; CASKET SEALED

Expect Famous Coach Will Be Buried in Cemetery Near Campus

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Appleton Post-Crescent Staff Writer
SOUTH BEND, IND. (AP)—Knute Rockne was back "home" today. His epical odyssey on earth was near its end. All that was mortal of the man, who blazed such a brilliant path of human achievement in his life span of only 43 short years, rested peacefully in a closed bronze, flower-blanked casket in a quiet, modest funeral home on North Michigan just three short miles from the campus of old Notre Dame.

The great Nordic chieftain of American football and good sportsmanship, who but four days ago left South Bend and Notre Dame with a broad smile on his face, was back "home" with the boys he loved so well and with those who loved him and who will cherish his memory forever. But instead of ecstasy and joy, he brought sadness and grief. He was the man whose heart the hearts of the thousands who found it hard to believe that their "Rock" could pass on so tragically at the very zenith of his glory—of Notre Dame's glory.

Never again were his friends to look upon his face. The tragic crash of the airplane, which took his life in Kansas, denied even that.

Casket Is Sealed

Those in charge of the body viewed it and decided that it would be best to keep the casket sealed forever except to give his widow a one last glimpse at the man everyone cherished. But it was doubtful whether Mrs. Rockne would care to see "Rock" again under the circumstances of mutilation and death. She, like all of Rock's boys, wanted to remember him as he was when last she saw him—beaming, joking and laughing.

Escorted by guards of honor, the body of the famous Notre Dame football coach was returned to South Bend last night at 11:30 o'clock, but how vastly different was the homecoming from those of the past. The same thousands jammed the railroad stations both here and in Chicago as they did. Just four short months ago when he led his football legions back from their glorious invasion of the west, but the same thousands were silent, awed and hushed as the casket was trucked quickly to a waiting hearse and taken slowly through the massed throng to the McCann undertaking parlor, where it will rest until the funeral.

Funeral Next Week
Even today, pending Mrs. Rockne's arrival at 6 p. m., from Florida where she received word of her famous husband's sudden death, funeral plans were indefinite. It was the general belief that the funeral would be held Monday or Wednesday at Sacred Heart church on the Notre Dame campus, where Rockne worshipped and where he was baptized six years ago.

En route last night, Mrs. Rockne was reported to have mentioned "the funeral Saturday" but a special dispensation from the bishop of the Port Wayne diocese would be necessary because of Holy week.

Everything waited Mrs. Rockne's wishes. She bore up well under the strain of her grief and was expected to reach a quick decision upon her arrival as to where the burial services are to be held and where the body is to be interred, which will be either at Sacred Heart cemetery just off the Notre Dame campus or in a Chicago cemetery.

"It was very unlikely, however, that burial will be made in Chicago as Mrs. Rockne has intimated to friends that "Rock" always said when he did die he wanted to be buried as close to Notre Dame as possible."

Flags at Half Mast
Meanwhile Notre Dame and South Bend paid silent respect. Flags were at half mast as they will be until after the funeral. Business was more or less at a standstill and the students, advised that they couldn't see the face of the great master of football again, had departed for their homes for the Easter holidays.

In their wake, hundreds of notables of the sport world headed toward South Bend to attend the funeral. Not least among them were almost every football player "Rock" had trained who were able to come. The "Four Horsemen" of 1924 were to be at the funeral in a body.

The funeral, though simple, promised to be one of the largest the American history. Virtually every prominent football coach and athlete leader in college life planned to be present.

Flowers, the first of which was a beautiful blanket of lilies from the Notre Dame club of Chicago, were ordered in great profusion. Rockne's homecoming last night in Chicago and South Bend, sad as it was, was also an impressive as any he received when he was active and at the helm of his "Fighting Irish." At Chicago thousands massed in demonstration at the Dearborn-st and La Salle-st stations and along the route followed by the funeral cortege. At South Bend, approximately 8,000 lined the union station to meet his body.

Everyone There
Sportsmen, athletes and many who were fond of Knute Rockne, both as a coach and as a person, were present and observed the funeral with interest. When the train arrived at the end of its long trail from Kansas City in South Bend, the face of the crowd was respectful and orderly and one could almost

CLEVELAND NOW IS FAVORED TO HOLD HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT

Rental Price of New Municipal Stadium Only Bone of Contention

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Cleveland with its new municipal stadium, was mentioned tonight in the Ballyhoo over sites for Max Schmeling to defend his heavyweight championship against W. L. "Young" Stripling.

Only a dispute over the stadium rental was holding up Cleveland's definite selection; it was unofficially reported after conferences here between William E. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden corporation; Joe Jacobs, manager of the German heavyweight; and George H. Bender, stadium manager.

They said they would announce a decision tonight after more conferences.

Jacobs was sure Cleveland had the "inside track" over Chicago's Soldier field and Detroit's arena. The hitch came, it was understood, over Bender's desire to obtain a considerable rental fee and demands that the promoters install all "necessary equipment," including a platform to accommodate between 40,000 and 50,000 people and costing around $40,000. Bender was said to have asked that this be given to the city without cost after the fight.

The promoters, however, were believed to have asked that the platform, seating around 120,000 with the extra platform, be almost donated in return for the publicity. The bout probably would be held July 3.

Carey and J. C. Watson, representing the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois, had nothing to say except that they would make some more telephone calls to Detroit and Chicago.

CONTINUE CUE MEET AT CATHOLIC HOME

A champion class and a class A pool battle are scheduled for Saturday evening at the Catholic home, according to officers. In the champion class, Charles Stark and Ed Stogbauer will meet. In the class A battle, Ed Herzfeldt, the class A game will show Kenneth Schneider and J. Schneider versus Jerry Zapp and Clarence Stingle.

Tuesday evening Arthur Olin and Clarence Rossmelst beat Louis Muggenthaler and Ray Ripple, 100 to 79. Last week's championship game saw Chris Stark and Ed Stogbauer beat Nick Stark and Ray Dohr, 100 to 83 in the championship class; Nick Stark and Will Deitgen beat Ed Herzfeldt and Oscar Griebach, 100 to 77 in class A; Kenneth Schneider and J. Schmidt beat Willard Kiley and Bud Wagner, 100 to 77 in class B; and Clarence Stingle and Jerry Zapp beat Jack Schaefer and Fred Douglas, 100 to 79 in another class B match.

hear the big station clock tick. But the "homecoming" was all over in a few minutes as the delegation of mourners with it saw to it that the casket was whisked away quickly. After the body had reached the undertaking parlors, several hundred congregated about, many remaining for hours.

The two Rockne children, who journeyed with the cortege, Knute Jr., 11, and William 14, were immediately taken to one of Notre Dame dormitories to spend the night, watched over by Captain H. H. Frances of Pembroke academy of Kansas City, where the two children attend military school. Both seemed sad enough, but like children, were unable to understand just what it all meant.

A steady stream of telegrams, telephone calls and letters of condolence came in still today from all parts of the nation and world for the man Rockne, who was "home" again.

After Rockne's body had been placed in the funeral home, a shabby kid started to cry as he gazed into the windows.

"Aw, don't cry," his playmate said. "I know, but wasn't he one great guy; why he used to speak even to me."

That was how South Bend felt today about Knute Rockne, who was home dead but not forgotten.

In addition to his ability on the diamond, Knute, Red Sox rookie, is an accomplished aviator. During the past winter his tender voice was a regular feature from the municipal station at Dallas, Texas.

THREE more changes in the team leaders of the Elks' state bowling tournament were made last night when 20 Appleton quintets took the runways and smashed the maples.

The Cubs went into second place with a score of 2551 and games of 980, 1026 and 845. Every member of the team rolled a series better than 535. In the first game C. Currie had 225 and F. Johnson 215. In the second game Currie had a 225, J. Ballet 211, William Jacobson 204. The two games gave the team opportunity to go into first place but Currie dropped to 144 and W. Jacobson 174 and only 845 pins were counted in the last game.

Tiger quintet went into third place with a total of 2829 pins. H. Tillman with 202, 221, 181—604 had high score. The other change among the leaders saw Pirates, Appleton, get 2687 for tenth place.

Training Camp Notes

MACON, GA.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins are rapidly becoming radio minded. Jake Flowers and Joe Shaute, leading vocalists of the club, have been signed up to sing at a Macon radio station next Saturday night while Dazzy Vance says one of the reasons why he was willing to sign his contract calling for $25,000 a season yesterday is that he has been offered a contract for ten radio talks of ten minutes each which will net him $2,500.

"So I'll get my $25,000 anyway," Dazzy explained.

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Traveler Jackson, shortstop and captain of the New York Giants, does not agree with the experts who pick other teams to win the National league pennant. Jackson, praising the work of Johnny Vergez, Hughey Critz, Bill Terry, Fred Lindstrom and Harold Schumacher, added:

"We have a great team this year with every position well covered and everybody in a winning mood. Don't count the Giants out when you are picking pennant winners."

Chattanooga, Tenn.—(AP)—Babe Ruth's chivalry faced a severe test today.

A gold watch has been offered for the first homer hit at Engel Stadium and the Bambino would like to have it.

But Miss Jackie Mitchell was scheduled to pitch for the lookouts and her heart's desire is to fan the babe and make enough money to buy a roadster.

Charlotte, N. C.—(AP)—Winding up a training season that has been somewhat unsatisfactory because of rainy weather, the first and second string Athletics will get away from North Carolina late today and head for home. The entire squad, which was split into two touring outfits a week ago, will get together enroute. They are due in Philadelphia Friday morning.

Manager Mack said he expected both Simmons and Earnshaw, who have been training at Fort Springs, to be on hand for the city series with the Phillies.

Bradenton, Fla.—(AP)—Manager Gabby Street waxed enthusiastic over his Cardinal infield today and predicted it would go far in bringing another National league pennant to St. Louis.

While the same players compose the infield as a year ago, Gabby reasoned that a young star, still a youngster, would show continued improvement, and "Sunny Jim" Bottomley, handicapped last year by an injured hand, should do much better. Frankie Frisch still is the Fordham flash, and "sparky" Adams, at third shows no signs of weakening.

Oakland, Calif.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers will do all their golf playing this summer on the days when they aren't playing baseball. Manager Bucky Harris doesn't know whether swinging at a golf ball detracts from a player's ability to connect with a baseball, but he does believe that a morning round of golf is likely to detract from the player's pep on the ball field that afternoon.

Los Angeles—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs who were expected by their overseer, Rogers Hornsby, to sweep through their exhibition series, now are faced with the problem of getting above the 500 mark.

Yesterday's flop to the Pirates left them with a record of eleven victories and twelve defeats, most of the latter due to shortcomings of the younger pitchers.

Fort Worth, Tex.—(AP)—The Chicago White Sox today started a vigorous hunt for a first baseman capable of playing major league baseball.

Ray Radcliff, a recruit who was expected to take care of the job, was found wanting and yesterday Manager Donie Bush sent him back to Dallas of the Texas league, from which the Sox obtained him. Johnny Watwood, an outfielder by trade, will play the initial station pending developments.

ASSISTANT PRO AT B. D. M. CLUB ARRIVES

Jake Mathews who was assistant professional at Butte des Morts golf club last season arrived in Appleton Wednesday and will make plans for opening of the local course as soon as the snow melts. Mathews will again be assistant to George Vitense, professional at the club, who is not expected for another week or two. Vitense will be at the club only three days each week until June 1 at which time he will return for the season.

Boston Braves Have Best Outfield In Many Years

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1931

AMPA, FLA.—(CPA)—This year the Boston Braves have the best outfield they have had since Judge Emil Fuchs bought the club. Had they not weakened their pitching staff to better some of the other parts of the team they would stick to the leaders in the National league race this year. Like cockle burrs to the tail of a Missouri mule, they may do so even at that.

It is a pity the outfit had to weaken its staff of hurlers to add strength to other soft spots, but this outfield surely decides the eyes of those who look upon it for the first time. An American league manager, a conservative one too, who had seen the Braves work out for some time, came down here to Tampa and he was overcome by the sprightliness of the team. It was the changed outfield that gave him such a good impression. He remarked that the Braves would beat out the New York Giants with a proper pitching staff. That wasn't very flattering to the Giants, but the American league manager stuck to it.

Cause Amusement
This outfield is so much better than Boston outfields have been for the past several years that it is no wonder it causes expressions of amusement. Just take this boy Worthington who was obtained from Rochester. He plays either right or left field and, while he is by no means a sprinter, he can lurch the ball with great gusto, and the more he hits the better he likes it.

Then there is Walter Berger in center field. He has developed into a high class player. Rival managers said they would get Walter's number. They are still trying. One year in the National league has helped Wally a lot.

Schulmerich, the California product who is in the other field, is as good looking at the moment as any ball player who has come from the golden state to make his reputation in the east. He is sturdy and a bit green about some things, but he can hit. A hitting outfield like this team means just as much as a measure of oats to a dairy mule.

There is much talk about what the Braves haven't got but there will be a lot more about their outfield, before the season has gone very far. It should please the old time baseball population of Boston.

BO MOLENDEN WILL AGAIN PITCH FOR GREEN BAY NINE

Packer Grid Star Expected at Ancient City About Middle of Month

Green Bay—Bo Molenda, Packer fullback, has accepted terms of the Green Bay Baseball association and will toe the mound for the Green Sox in the Fox river valley league. It has been announced by Manager Joe Cushman.

Molenda has been wintering in California but he left Los Angeles Monday and is expected here early next week. The big right hander has been pitching some ball on the coast and should be fit for action when he reports here.

Two years ago, Molenda joined the Green Sox about mid-season and shared pitching honors with Leavelle. The former Michigan star, well credited with a number of wins and Manager Joe Cushman is confident that he will come through with flying colors again this season.

Speed Ball Hurler

Molenda is a speed ball pitcher and has a deceptive curve. Last season he won a dozen games and dropped four in the Detroit Manufacturers league, which is credited with being one of the fastest semi-pro circuits in the country.

Bo is a handy man on a ball club as he can also play a good game at first base or in the outfield when not hurling. While in the Valley league, Molenda had a batting average of .309.

Three other pitchers are slated to report to Manager Cushman when the Bays' start practicing about April 19. Both Dave Zuidmolder and Jake Rowe, members of last year's staff will again be on the job along with Tony Merschorff, a Milwaukee slasher who twirled for Waukesha in 1929.

Merschorff is a product of the Milwaukee City league and two years ago was a teammate of Kubek and Hackbart, two youngsters who have been looking pretty good at the Brewers' spring training camp in Hot Springs. He is said to be an easy-working right hander with a deceptive change of pace.

Worst of Worries Over

Manager Cushman feels that the worst of his worries are over now that the pitching staff is fairly well lined up. For the past month, negotiations with hurlers have been carried on and the Bay leader has held conferences here with a number of mound artists including "Lefty" Forlin of Two Rivers and "Breezy" Brindza of Manitowoc, who hurled a no-hit game in the State league last season.

The Baseball association will send out contracts to all the other players within a week and Manager Cushman hopes to have about two dozen candidates signed when practice starts. Several players are working out afternoons and evenings at the Columbus club.

CALLAHAN PRAISES OUTAGAMIE SCHOOL

Letter to Principal Commends Manner of Operation

Kaukauna—W. F. Hagman, principal of the Outagamie Rural Normal school, received a letter from John Callahan, state superintendent commending the manner in which the school is operated. His letter is based on a report of the state inspector who visited the school several weeks ago.

The letter commented on the teaching practice that is given to the students. It said in part:

"By good management the entire number of students is receiving the required number of weeks of practice teaching. This has required careful organization. The arrangement of the rooms in your building has made it more easily possible.

"Miss Bradbury (inspector) refers to the plan of the building as to the office, space, library, convenience, work room and recitation rooms as excellent for the orderly and smooth running of the normal. She speaks of the student's work room—equipped with typewriters and duplicators as serving a useful purpose."

"Of the music instructions that are given regularly to the student teachers the letter says: 'The music training that is given to the normal class is highly appreciated and excellent.' Superintendent Callahan also commended the use of the two room school at Little Chute used in practice teaching. Miss T. Egan is teacher of the school.

The letter brought out that a good library has been built up with fine sets of supplementary materials for the intermediate grades. It spoke favorably of the primary reading given at the beginning of the year.

In closing, Mr. Callahan said: "It appears that your school is enjoying a steady year of work and promise and I extend to you my wishes that its service may continue."

COUPLE HAS BUILT OUTSTANDING HERD IN TWELVE YEARS

Credit Breeding and Production Records for Success

BY W. F. WINSEY

Starting off on a program of modern dairying with the purchase of a purebred Guernsey bull, 12 years ago to be used as a foundation animal of their prospective purebred herd, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Fredricks have developed one of the outstanding herds of this part of Outagamie-co.

The Fredricks' herd is free of tuberculosis, is accredited, and was given the second blood test for contagious abortion six weeks ago. No reactors were discovered in either of the blood tests. The cows are regularly tested for milk and butterfat production in the Outagamie County Milk Order laboratory in the court house. For the high production of their cows, the Fredricks have been awarded official certificates. One cow of the herd produced 418 pounds of butter fat the past year, and the herd averaged 323 pounds of butterfat. The owners are now milking 11 cows and have complete production and registration records of all their animals. The records are kept by Mrs. Fredricks.

The Fredricks raise all the alfalfa their cows need for hay as well as all the sweet and red clover pasture. In a large measure, they attribute the condition and production of the cows to the kind and quantity of pasture and hay grown on the farm. To balance the rations of milk producers, some bran, oil meal and gluten feed is added to the home grown grains. To guard the health of the calves, Mrs. Fredricks mixes their rations and feeds the calves herself. She is careful about giving a calf just the right quantity of milk and other feeds. In caring for calves, she avorably of the primary reading given at the beginning of the year.

In closing, Mr. Callahan said: "It appears that your school is enjoying a steady year of work and promise and I extend to you my wishes that its service may continue."

believes that preventions of sickness is much better than cures.

After purchasing the first bull, the next animals the Fredricks purchased as foundations for their purebred herd was a calf bred at Wrightstown, and two heifer calves and a cow from Neenah. They lately purchased an outstanding purebred bull.

As a result of keeping the production and breeding records of the animals in the herd, and her study of the records of other herds of the Guernsey breed and the marks of good breeding, Mrs. Fredricks is the equal of most of the experienced men in this section.

MOTORIST FINED FOR TRAFFIC VIOLATION

Kaukauna—John Juno of Green Bay was fined $5 Wednesday by Justice of Peace N. Schwin for cutting through a funeral procession with his automobile. He was arrested by Chief of Police R. H. McCarty Tuesday.

Commerce commission accepts the report proposed by Examiner Harris Fleming concerning freight rates on horses to be used as food for the

The Cedarburg Fox Farms, supported by four fox fur breeders' associations representing fox farms at Appleton, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Manitowoc, Menasha, Two Rivers, Eau Claire, Kiel, and nearly 30 others Wisconsin points, filed a complaint with the I. C. C. in June, 1930, asking lower rates on horses shipped to fox farms at Thionville, Grafton, Rib Falls and Marathon City. They charged that the rates are unreasonable, and unduly prejudicial when compared with rates on horses shipped to fox farms at Rockford, Ill.

The horses are wild range horses from Montana, the Dakotas and Wyoming, or work horses that have outlived their usefulness. They are shipped alive to Wisconsin and slaughtered at the plants. To Wisconsin, the rates are full horse rates, whereas shipments to Rockford take the "cattle rate" which is 10 per cent lower than the Wisconsin horse rate. The use of the cattle rate on shipments of horses began in Montana in 1924 in an effort to rid the state of its great excess of range horse which consumed food and water and menaced the welfare of stock and ship. It applies only to "common horses not good for anything but slaughtering."

In his report, Examiner Fleming found the rates, in themselves, not unreasonable but upheld the charge of undue preference in favor of the competitors at Rockford.

GUARANTEE

We guarantee this tire to outwear any other tire in the same price field when run under the same conditions. Miller Rubber Products Co. (Incorporated) Akron, Ohio, U.S.A.

It DOES not surprise me that some local car owners wonder about the Miller guarantee.

Of course it seems almost too good to be true. But here are the real facts in the case.

Not only is the Miller guarantee fully backed up by the Miller Rubber Products Company! It has plenty of support and backing right in the tire itself. I say this with certainty because I know from experience. I know that people get more mileage out of Miller G-T-R Tires.

Just take a look at this tread! Feel it. Dig your fingers down into it. It's thicker and its deeper for one thing. And does it wear? But...when you've got more rubber built in where the most wear comes, it's only natural that you get more mileage.

I'd like the chance to show you this tire; to measure the depth of the tread, show you its non-slipping traction tread.

Believe me, there is no design like the Miller Geared-To-The-Road. Come in and I'll prove it.

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of MYSTERIOUS WAY

SYNOPSIS: Mr. James dies from a drink of the poison he had prepared to kill Marjorie Lauderdel, and, in the ensuing confusion at Dr. Charters' nursing home, John Wayne, with Sister Weldon's help, gets the girl out of the place. Confronted with the tragic development, Charters admits James is his son, as ominously Wayne tells him that Schlitz, Dorson and James have gone and that he, Charters, is being saved for the last. Wayne decides to accompany Marjorie to India, where she is to wed her fiancé, Captain Lauderdel. But when, at his request, Sister Weldon hunts his passage in the boat he had worn on the day he first came to the home, it is missing. He obtains another and sets out for India with Marjorie.

"Good-by, dearest John," said Marjorie, and, putting her arms round his neck, she kissed him lovingly.

"Good-by, darling Rosemary . . . Marjorie," said John Wayne huskily, kissing her.

Turning upon his heel he fled from the place.

Dr. Theodore Charters, clean-shaven, and remarkably changed in appearance, strolled slowly, moodily and far from jauntily, along Michigan Boulevard.

Depressed, heavy and despondent, he went his way; but, from time to time, hummed a popular air as he felt the warmth of the sun, and sniffed the invigorating breeze from the lake.

Indeed, he was doing so audibly as three stalwart men overtook him, and, ranging up, two on his right side and one on his left, fell into step with him.

"Wayne?" inquired one of them pleasantly.

"Sure, John Wayne of this little bright burg."

The men eyed him narrowly.

"Clean-shaven . . . gray eyes . . . Would you mind removing your hat a moment?" continued the man who had accosted Dr. Charters. "Gray hair," he continued, "Nick, probably made by a bullet, in cartilage of right ear."

"Quite right," agreed Dr. Charters, coming to a halt and smilingly touching his right ear, where indeed was the mark. In question—self-inflicted some months earlier.

"Scar across back of right hand?" inquired the big man.

Promptly Dr. Charters withdrew his glove.

"There you are," he said, and displayed the necessary scar, also self-inflicted some months earlier.

"Got 'ny letters addressed to yourself?"

"Plenty," replied Charters, diving into the pocket of his overcoat and producing several addressed to Mr. John Wayne, at a Chicago hotel.

"That's all right . . . Passport?" inquired the man, adding:

"You landed from England on September 30th."

"Certainly. But I don't carry my passport about with me, naturally."

"At my hotel?"

"It's like to have a peek at it."

"Why, certainly. We'll go along, right now."

"We will," said the man.

"And now, what in hell's your game?" inquired Charters, as the four turned about, and marched in the direction whence they had come.

"Just wanted to be sure that you're John Wayne," was the non-committal reply.

"Of course I am," replied Charters impatiently. "Who else d'you think I am?"

"I don't think you're anybody else," was the answer.

From his dispatch-case, Dr. Charters produced John Wayne's passport.

"Photo's a had one," he said, "and taken a good many years ago at that."

"Good enough," replied the detective. "Quite O. K. Fine. You're John Wayne, all right. . . . And now, John, if you'll come along with us, we'll soon put you right where you can finish that life-sentence you walked away from. Coming quietly?"

Dr. Theodore Charters went quietly and indeed from him no sound has since been heard out of the shadows of the prison-house, across the gulf that separates the bond from the free.

For the mantle of John Wayne, that he had drawn so skillfully about his shoulders, ineluctably conceals his identity—for life . . . unless the real John Wayne were discovered, or declared himself.

For life . . . In San Paolo Jail.

Rosemary! Tomorrow Wayne goes back of the door, you have just read to tell of her whose tragic loss made him the very soul of vengeance.

SEEK PATENT FOR FOURDRINIER WIRE

Application Is Made by John R. Buchanan, Thomas M. Cray

After several years of experimenting, John R. Buchanan, formerly of this city, and Thomas M. Cray, both of the Capital Wire Cloth and Manufacturing company of Ottawa, have perfected and applied for patents on a seamless point for Fourdrinier wire. The success so far attained in the practical operation of this joint demonstrates that it will be the most startling improvement ever introduced to the Fourdrinier wire industry, it is claimed.

Mr. Buchanan, president of the Capital Wire Cloth company, left Appleton about 19 years ago. While here he was associated with the Appleton Wire Works company. He is a brother of G. E. Buchanan, secretary and treasurer of the Appleton Wire Works.

The standard sewed seam, now the general practice for uniting the ends of Fourdrinier wires, has been more or less a serious problem, as the necessary construction of the joint did not adapt itself at times to the various exacting requirements which a seam of this kind was called upon to perform. With the new seamless joint there is no sewing wire used, and the two works company. He is a brother of G. E. Buchanan, secretary and treasurer of the Appleton Wire Works.

SHARE PRICES ON STOCK MART HIT BY SLUMP

Round Out Fortnight of Steady Backsliding—Rallies Fail to Gain

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER Associated Press Financial Editor

New York (AP)—The decline in share prices gained momentum in today's stock market, rounding out a fortnight of almost steady backsliding.

Some observers had expected the closing out of short contracts in advance of the Good Friday market today to give the list a temporary upturn. A rally did get under way in the morning, but was soon lost in a wave of selling. Since two weeks ago next Saturday, the market, as measured by the price index of 90 shares, has had only two slight upturns and the latest one was almost negligible.

Utilities and chemicals were hard hit. International Telephone dropped more than 2 points, one block of 7,500 shares trading on the way down. United Corp. lost about a point, with one block of 12,000 appearing. Consolidated Gas, North American, Electric Power and Light, Pacific Lighting and American Water Works lost 2 or more. Allied Chemical dropped 5 and Air Reduction more than 2 to new lows. U. S. Steel sold off more than a point, but strongly supported at its 1931 low, which is about 3 points above the minimum of last December.

The day brought forth more adverse dividends news, although the return of U. S. Industrial Alcohol's annual rate from $5 to $2 was less drastic than some observers had expected. With alcohol selling at 19 cents a gallon, it is believed to be below production costs. The company is in a good financial position to weather an unprofitable period, however. Archer-Daniels-Midland omitted the 50 cent quarterly payment due at this time.

The bond market continued to give a somewhat better account of itself, but with a large offering of treasury certificates, and possibly government bonds, expected next week, it was held in check. Call money remained at 1 1/2 per cent, but was not plentiful at that level.

The definite reversal of the upward trend in steel mill activity, as reported yesterday, had greatly impaired speculative sentiment. It is still too early, however, to judge the significance of this development. Next week's steel mill estimates are awaited with keen interest. Republic Steel is starting up two open hearth furnaces at its Bourne-Fuller plant.

The Automobile Club of America's March production estimate indicates that the industry in the United States and Canada produced about 290,000 units last month, a substantial gain over February. Advance estimates for April, however, are less optimistic than recently. While 400,000 units was mentioned a short time ago, trade circles now expect the output may be under 350,000 units.

PRICES ON BOND MART MAKE SLIGHT ADVANCES

New York (AP)—The bond market was irregularly higher today on a moderate volume.

The upward movement in the public utilities and the railroads, which have been under steady pressure recently. Most other groups showed little change.

Great Northern Series B 4 1/2s and Illinois Central 4 1/2s of 1936 made good gains in active trading. Many of the other issues selling higher did so on small sales. Chicago and Northwestern 4 1/2s of 1949 were fractionally lower on steady selling.

American and Foreign Power 5s, American Telephone 5s of 1960 and the Debenture 5s of 1965, Columbia Gas and Electric 5s of May 1952 and Western Union 5s of 1950 led the way upward for the Utilities. Such declines as occurred in this group were narrow.

Polish 7s dropped sharply but the net changes of many of the leading foreign obligations were fractional and they were divided about evenly between gains and declines. German 6 1/2s continued active and strong. The German Agricultural Bank 6s of 1960 were one of the most active issues of the whole list at fractional higher levels.

The late issue in obligations of the United States government yesterday evaporated today. Trading in them was dull at least all morning and part of the afternoon which produced narrow fluctuations.

Warner Brothers Pictures 5s dipped sharply on steady selling but other stock privilege obligations moved narrowly.

FEW HOGS OFFERED FOR SALE ON MARKET

Buyers Are Faced With Acute Shortage—Prices Work Higher

Chicago (AP)—Few hogs were offered for sale today that buyers were threatened with acute shortage, especially of well finished kinds in all weights. Prices opened sharply higher as a consequence, but shippers were the only buyers out for supplies and no market activity appeared in the first few hours of trading. Bids for 100-150 lb. hogs, 160-170 lb. weights were rejected in anticipation of a 25c higher market rate. Those bids were 10c15c above the best price obtained yesterday. The reason for the shortage was a run of 16,000 direct to packers in the total supply of 25,000 making the number sent over that route for slaughter at Chicago this week approximately 48,000 compared to 29,946 for the same four days of last week.

Some hope was felt for the bulk of the steer run today, after an unsatisfactory session on Wednesday, when the supply at the eleven principal markets was so sharply curtailed that only half the number of last Thursday was on sale. Chicago had only 5,000 head and demand from the outside, was believed strong enough to take care of the better grades at fully steady prices, while local interests needed enough to take up the balance without the strenuous efforts that were necessary yesterday.

Two more lambs were on sale today to encourage any sellers to ask higher prices than were established in the whirlwind market Wednesday, but choice lightweights were offered at $9.50 and better in line with the new price range, the highest since last August. Heavyweights, most of which were from Colorado, were offered at lower than $9.00. Chicago had 18,000 head in the run, however, so that there was no great scarcity.

GRAIN PRICES HAMMERED TO LOWER LEVELS

Corn Leads Way as Downward Movement Gains More Momentum

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago (AP)—Led by corn, which fell to the lowest prices since 1922, all grains reached new bottom levels today. Commission houses were persistent sellers of corn despite a more active shipping demand here and notwithstanding statements by a leading authority that from a statistical standpoint the corn supply situation at present was much stronger than at the beginning of the season. Selling, however, was incited by apparent likelihood of much unharmed corn acreage for the 1931 crop.

All grains hovered around the season's lowest prices. Corn as well as oats reached new bottom levels, and wheat equaled the record. Selling was ascribed largely to discouraged holders. Prospects of an increased acreage of corn this season had a particularly bearish influence, more than offsetting at times the effect of curtailed receipts both of corn and wheat.

Helping to give relative steadiness to wheat, however, were reports of early emergence of grasshoppers in the corn states, especially Missouri and South Dakota, the earliest ever known in Missouri. Crop experts said that unless the eggs prematurely hatched or a prolonged wet period followed normal hatching, serious damage could be expected in heavily infested districts. Bulls made much also of signs of continued good export demand for Canadian wheat. Oats swayed with other cereals. Provisions held about steady.

TWO CONVICTS ARE GUILTY IN OHIO TRAGEDY

Confessed They Set Fire
Which Took Lives of 320 Prisoners

Columbus, Ohio—(AP)—Sole responsibility for the fire that took the lives of 320 prisoners at Ohio penitentiary last April 21 rested today on the shoulders of two men.

Solution of the plot that caused one of the greatest prison disasters in history came yesterday when Franklin Co. Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins announced that Clinton Grate and Hugh Gibson, convicts, had confessed setting the fire with a view to delaying Warden Preston E. Thomas' construction program and because they objected to aiding in the building of a new cell block to house fellow prisoners.

Gibson, formerly of Philadelphia, was sentenced from Cleveland, Grate, whose home is in Virginia, was admitted from Dayton, Ohio. Both were convicted robbers and had served nine years of their terms.

The confessions were announced after an investigation by the Franklin Co. grand jury was concluded yesterday. The jury was called in session today to decide what action to take. Under the law, they may be indicted for first degree murder and put to death in the electric chair if convicted.

Grate and Gibson denied they planned the fire with a view to escaping during the ensuing confusion.

The confessions said the fire was set with a lighted candle.

Your Birthday

"ARIES"
If April 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p. m. to 3:15 p. m., from 5:20 p. m. to 6:45 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 7:10 p. m. to 8:50 p. m.

A very inspiring day is predicted by the planetary aspects of April 3rd, a day of promise and emotion. If you allow the feelings that surge within you to control your actions, if you are not afraid, then success is assured. A happy issue out of all.

DEPEND ON ZEMO TO STOP ITCHING

Use soothing, healing, invisible Zemo for the torture of itching skin. This clean, reliable family antiseptic helps bring relief in thousands of homes, stops itching and draws the heat and sting out of the skin. ZEMO has been used for twenty years with remarkable success for all forms of annoying, itching skin irritations. "Relief with first application," thousands say. 5c, 6c and 10c. All dealers. Adv.

their troubles lies within the reach of all.

Children born on this April 3rd will be venturesome to the point of recklessness, forceful and positive. They will be stubborn, upright and exacting, more fitted to an outdoor life than that of a sedentary nature. Their affections will be strong and vigorous, like their natures.

You are a very busy, active person if born on April 3rd. You never are still, and dislike to see others idling. You are always on the go, but frequently accomplish less than those who move more slowly. Continued and varying activity does not promote concentration. Whenever a difficult problem presents itself, you tackle it in an energetic manner, even when slow thinking is necessary for its solution. The result is that you work around in circles and never find the correct answer. Thought, without accompanying action, is impossible to one of your nervous disposition.

Success and failure will characterize your life, and only in later years, will you acquire that degree of calm and absence of flurry that makes the most of opportunities. You are a good talker, but your words often outrun your thoughts, and you revert to the use of "speech padding," the use of unnecessary phrases to express the same thought. You are too satisfied with small successes, as with your ability, you could accomplish much more than mediocre achievements. Your judgment of events and persons is not very reliable. You are too much influenced by environment or externals. Your love nature is strong and tempestuous, therefore you crave something more than the placid.

Coat Story

Blues are the special favorites of fashion for Spring but black and tan and green will be much in demand, too. Tweeds are smart, especially in the tailored type of coat, and softer fabrics are used in the "dress-maker" style which is distinctly softer in line and in detail. You are right this season whether you buy the fur-collared coat or the coat with the scarf or the coat with the rolling cloth collar. And all this smartness will cost you very little — $9.95 or $17.95.

sure to have a jacket

$6.75 and $9.95

It makes very little difference whether it's a bolero, a more pretence of a jacket, a hip length or a longer jacket — it's decidedly spring 1931. But if your taste is set against jackets there are plenty of charming frocks without them, in printed crepe, printed chiffon, flat crepe, and plain chiffon. And a liberal sprinkling of plaids, stripes, dots and flower patterns. $6.75 and $9.95.
